DOROTHY'S SWORN STORY ACCUSED UNCLE OF BLACKMAIL

The Boston American today reveals an entirely new angle of the strange and pathetic case of Dorothy Gordon. Out of the past comes the voice of Dorothy on the witness stand.

She hates her Uncle Jack, with whom she played as a child, who instigated the present fight to rescue her from the Jardines. She loves the Jardines. Why did she hate Uncle Jack? Dorothy broke down and wept.

After a recess she again took the stand and accused her uncle of exacting a price for his silence concerning her mother's romance that for thirteen years was unsanctified by a wedding ring.

She charged him with getting sums of money from her mother over a long period of years for "not telling things." And when she questioned her mother about these mysterious things she feared so to have made known she relates that her mother told her: "You are too young to know such things." "But I know," she said.

VICTIM OF LEGAL BATTLE.

Efforts were made to show that Dorothy had been poisoned against Uncle Jack by the Jardines, by their servant, Mary Coakley, and by Attorney Nason, whom the child admitted had first made known to her the illegitimacy of her parenthood. She admitted Uncle Jack had kept the secret.

But for years Uncle Jack, she said, had lived with her mother and with her, paid by her father while

JURY FINDS PLOT IN BOSCH DEAL

Washington, Nov. 17 (By International News Service).—The special war fraud grand jury of the District of Columbia today found that a "conspiracy existed" in the case of the sale of the Bosch Magneto Company, but that as the overt act was committed outside of the District of Columbia it had no power to act thus its investigations. The Bosch Magneto Company was sold by A. Mitchell Palmer as alien property custodian to a syndicate in which one of the chief figures was Martin E. Kort.

BUSINESS MEN HIT FOR DODGING JURY

Business men were condemned for not accepting jury service by District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, speaking this noon before the Chamber of Commerce at the assembly luncheon at the Copley Plaza.

"In no small degree the improper functioning of juries has contributed to the failure of the criminal law to achieve its purpose," he said.

"Corruption of talesmen, manipulation of jury lists so that classes of professional jurors have sprung up, hanging of juries to prevent convictions and a maudlin public sympathy shows serious offenders, all tend to discredit the jury system."

OPEN CRUSADE ON MOVIE MASHERS

Mashers will be careful in Boston from now on. Police headquarters has launched a crusade. Policewomen Irene McAuliffe made the first arrest. She brought Jerry Novola of Carlton street, North End, into court on a charge of assault and battery. He was given a suspended sentence of two months.

The crusade is the result of complaints that women have been bothered by mashers while viewing movies. Miss McAuliffe sat alone in a theatre. Jerry smiled at her, then sat in the seat beside her. He spoke, then his hand stole out in an effort to take hers. She arrested him.

VOTE SUM TO OUST BROOKLINE PASTOR

Special funds have been voted by the executive committee of the Presbyterian Church, in session at Atlantic City, to carry on the civil suit to obtain title rights to the Brookline Presbyterian Church. This will be fought in the Supreme Court here.

The suit is the outcome of the unsuccessful attempt of the Boston Presbytery to oust the Rev. Edgar Curtis, who was denounced and ordered to give up his pastorate for the alleged baptism of a dog and the blessing of a salad at his boarding house.

His congregation is supporting him and will contest the action.

The body was found by Percy Lawrence and his son David. The police believe the man met his death nat-

MORSE FRAUD TRIAL TO BEGIN ON FEB. 6

Washington, Nov. 17.—Trial of Charles W. Morse, shipbuilder, his three sons and eight others jointly indicted here on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States Shipping Board in connection with war contracts, will begin February 6 in the criminal division of the District of Columbia Supreme Court. Morse recently filed a request for an early trial.

DEMAND ALL-NIGHT TRAIN SERVICE

A petition signed by 185 men and women, demanding that the Narrow Gauge Railroad restore the all-night ferry and train service it abandoned during the war, was filed today with the State Department of Public Utilities. The signers live in Lynn, Revere and Winthrop. A hearing will be held Tuesday.

WANTED! A RED SOX MANAGER

Frazee Offers Carrigan $20,000 to Take Duffy's Job, but Bill Wants to Buy Club

The Red Sox will have a new manager in 1923.

President H. H. Frazee, paying one of his rare visits to Boston, is busy now talking terms with candidates for the job.

Hugh Duffy, reported some time back to have signed up for next season, is to get the axe. His team finished in last place, and although he can't be blamed for that, he will be sacrificed.

Bill Carrigan, manager of the chapion teams of years past, talked some with Frazee today, but, according to the latter, no business entered the conversation.

Carrigan, it is known, has been offered upwards of $20,000 per to come back as Boston manager. But Bill wants to buy the club. The Frazee price of $1,000,000 prevents that deal, however. Carrigan has backing, but will not purchase unless the price is right.

Frazee seems to have the idea that his veterans and discards might become a pretty good ball club with a driver like Carrigan or Chance on the job.

1,000 NEW YORK TAXI MEN OUT ON STRIKE

New York, Nov. 17.—Six hundred taxicab drivers and 400 mechanics of the Black & White Taxicab Company left their cabs in the company's garages today when they walked out on strike against an announced reduction in wage commissions. The cut was from 40 per cent. of collections to 33 1-3 per cent.

HALL TOLD OF THREAT TO KILL

Confessed Love for Singer and Showed Fear of Man Named Henry

(Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 17.—A witness has been found by an International News Service reporter who declared positively that Rev. Edward W. Hall, slain rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, had told him of being threatened with bodily harm by a man named Henry.

The witness also quoted Dr. Hall as saying that he had quarrelled with his wife repeatedly over Mrs. Eleanor Mills, leader of the church choir, whose body was found alongside of his under the crabapple tree on the Phillips farm on the morning of Sept. 16.

The witness is Rev. Paul F. B. Hamborsky, former pastor of the Hungarian Reformed Church of this city and for ten years an intimate acquaintance of the slain rector.

Dr. Hamborsky said he had

NOT WITH LOUD, SAYS MRS. DOW.

Mrs. Kate Adams Dow declared on the witness stand at the Raab hearing in Malden court today that she was not with Clarence W. Loud the night that James A. Preston, Wakefield policeman, was shot. Some of the questions and answers were: Q.—Dis you ever tell Mrs. Raab that Preston had held you and Loud up that night? A.—I was not with Mr. Loud. Q.—Didn't you say that Preston had stopped you and Loud before? A.—He never stopped me before. —Oh, then you had been out with Loud before? A.—I had, many times. Mrs. Dow declared that she didnot knowPreston.

GORDON GIRL, IN OWN SWORN STORY, DECLARED SHE HATED UNCLE

JARDINE CHOICE AS GUARDIAN

JOHN D. GARDINER, Uncle of Dorothy Gordon, who is seeking to oust William F. Jardine as guardian of the girl now in the McLean Insane Asylum.

MRS. MARGARET WALLACE, Former State ward, employed in the Jardine home and confidante of Dorothy. She makes startling charges against the Jardines.

WILLIAM F. JARDINE, Guardian of Dorothy Gordon, who placed her in the insane asylum, admitting that she was sane and that he has profited thereby.

MISSING LINK

Even more startling revelations than heretofore are expected to be made when the missing link in this chain of evidence is forged.

DOROTHY GORDON, The insane asylum inmate, "poor little rich girl," around whom tragedy and balked romance are linked so pitifully.

MRS. LENA JARDINE, Wife of Dorothy's guardian, chum of her late mother and the woman who introduced Jardine into the life of the Gordon girl.

JOHN L. SHEEHAN, Counsel for Dorothy's uncle, who has been forging together, link by link, the chain of sensational evidence in the case.

he was alive, paid by her mother when she was alive, because he held this terrible secret over them.

If Dorothy Gordon is insane today, it is possible that the battle of relatives, and others, for control of her fortune, a battle which all of them settled once five years ago by relinquishing the guardianship to Jardine and permitting Dorothy to pay the $11,000 litigation expenses, made her so.

Dorothy's own sworn testimony, brought out by Attorney Sheehan, when she was fifteen follows:

Q.—Do you honestly believe today if you had no money in the world and turned to Mr. and Mrs. Jardine they would want you?

A.—I do.

Q.—Did they tell you so that? A.—I know they would take care of me.

Q.—Did somebody tell you that? A.—I know from their true actions ever since I was a little girl. They would want me just as much if I didn't have any money as if I did.

Q.—You assume when your mother was alive if she had no money she would want you and her to live right in with them? A.—Yes.

Q.—How about the automobile, that is your mother's automobile, the automobile of the estate? A.—They have paid for the gasoline, running the car.

Q.—Do you know how they paid for it? A.—I know they paid for it.

Q.—Do you realize that Mr. William F. Jardine's plan was to take the $5,000 your mother was drawing and use it in the house for the support of himself and his wife and possibly yourself? A.—I know he wouldn't do such a thing.

Q.—Would you be surprised to know that was his intention? A.—I know it could not have been his intention.

Q.—Would you be surprised to know that is his intention and plan? A.—Yes I would.

BELIEVES IN JARDINE.

Q.—Would you be surprised to learn he wanted to take $5,000 a year of your money and live on it? A.—I would be more than surprised.

Q.—Would you think anything less of a man if he came on the witness stand and swore to the fact? A.—I don't know what you mean.

Mr. Nason—I pray Your Honor's judgment. That is a purely hypothetical question without any basis.

The Court—I will allow you to cross-examine her as a test of her affection, putting her to the strongest possible test.

Q.—So, Dorothy, if Mr. Jardine should come on the witness stand to say he wanted to turn $5,000 a year of your money to use in your house for himself, his wife, possibly his mother, you would not think he was working in your interest, would you, Dorothy? A.—I know he would not do such a thing.

Q.—You would not think he was working for your interest, would you, Dorothy? A.—No.

Q.—Well, you don't want anybody to take $5,000 a year of your money or income and run the house out at Newton and your off at boarding school, and live there himself with his wife and mother simply to be your guardian, do you, Dorothy? A.—No.

Q.—Now, Dorothy, I take it for thirteen years of your life, or fourteen years of your life, you didn't know the things you have found out the last six months? A.—No, I did not.

Q.—And the things you have found out the last six months have made a decided change in your attitude toward your Uncle Jack, haven't they? A.—Yes.

NEVER LIKED HER UNCLE.

Q.—Those things are things somebody other than Uncle Jack has told you? A.—No, they are not.

Q.—They are things you have found out from somebody else? A.—No.

Q.—They aren't things you found out from Uncle Jack, are they? A.—No.

Q.—Nothing your Uncle Jack has done since your mother died has caused you to turn against him, has it? A.—No.

Q.—They are things you have found out about everything, isn't that so, little girl? A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, now, I take it then, if you have found them out, only in the last six months, your real dislike for Uncle Jack in your heart has taken place since then? A.—No, I never liked my uncle. I always respected him for my mother's sake.

Q.—Well, then, I take it you never liked Bunty either, did you? A.—I have always liked Bunty.

Q.—You have always liked Bunty. And did you like Stella, too, Jack's wife? A.—No. I never liked her.

Q.—Did you write that letter addressing it "Dearest Aunt Stella and Uncle Jack"? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you signed that letter "Lovingly"? A.—Yes.

Q.—That letter of the 27th of December, 1917? A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, now you were truthful when you wrote the letter addressed "Dearest Aunt Stella and Uncle Jack," were you? A.—No, I didn't mean what I said in that letter.

Q.—And when you said "Lovingly Dorothy" you didn't mean it? A.—No.

Q.—And that is true of every letter you ever wrote? A.—I didn't have any lovable feeling in it.

Q.—Do you realize, Dorothy, that Mr. William F. Jardine's plan is for himself and his wife and his mother to keep the house open and use your furniture and to send you to Mt. Ida School or some other boarding school and have the house run and carried on—— A.—That would not be allowed.

Q.—Do you realize that may be his possible plan? A.—No, I do not realize that.

HER IDEAS OF DUTIES.

Q.—What do you think the duties of your guardian are, Dorothy? A.—I don't think they are easy duties.

Q.—What do you think they are? A.—To take care of your property, see you are brought up in a proper way and have right associates, have what education you can and not let you be extravagant.

Q.—You think you should not be under the influence of a woman who was bad? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you know anything about the early life of Mrs. Jardine? A.—I do not. I know she is good.

Q.—You have been told that, have you? A.—No, I have not.

Q.—You believe her to be an absolutely good, perfectly pure woman? A.—I believe what I have seen of her.

Q.—You wouldn't want her to be over you if she were otherwise? A.—No.

Q.—You would not care for a man, knowing of certain bad habits or immorality, who would stand up for it, permit it in a wife, without reprimand or correction, would you? A.—I don't see what you mean by that.

Q.—You wouldn't care for a man who would stand for these things in his wife, would you? A.—What do you mean, "in his wife"?

Q.—Supposing a man had a wife who wasn't a good, moral woman, and sanctioned it, backed her up in it, you wouldn't want a man who did that, would you? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever know, hear or see anything immoral in Stella Gardiner? A.—No, I did not.

Q.—Never hear a word spoken about her moral character? A.—Yes, I have. I know she wasn't allowed to live with her father; he wouldn't have her in the house, put her out of the house.

INFORMED BY FRIENDS.

Q.—Where did you hear that? A.—From the girls in Baldwin She lived there all her life.

Q.—Don't you know she lived with her father up to the time she was married? A.—I know she didn't.

Q.—Don't you know her father visits her right along? A.—I don't know that.

Q.—Who told you that, Dorothy, name the girls? A.—Norma Mulliner. Mrs. Mulliner's daughter. Miss Gardiner, herself, had told me she wasn't allowed to live in her own home and had to go to work in the postoffice. Naturally she didn't tell me her father wouldn't have her in the house.

Q.—Don't you know her father ran the postoffice? A.—Not that I ever knew of.

Q.—Don't you know she worked in the postoffice with him and lived with him? A.—That is different from what was told me.

Q.—You never knew that, did you? A.—No.

Q.—You never noticed anything out of the way, did you? A.—No.

Q.—Wasn't she kind to you? A.—She isn't an educated person.

Q.—Well, now, you say her sister never tutored you at all? A.—She never tutored me.

Q.—Didn't your father engage her to tutor you? A.—No; he never did.

Q.—Isn't she now with the Title Guaranty Trust Company? A.—Yes.

Q.—Isn't she educated? A.—Yes.

UNCLE NEVER CALLED.

Q.—Then the sister is considered pretty well educated? A.—Yes.

Q.—The girls in Baldwin are pretty well educated? A.—They go to a country district school. Can't get a fine education there.

Q.—Do you realize that is the education we all had? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you ever think for a moment that Jack didn't want you to have a good education? A.—Why, no.

Q.—Did you think for one moment Jack wouldn't allow you to go to any school, any college? A.—No.

Q.—He never said anything that indicated it, did he? A.—No.

Q.—He never said he wanted to limit you in your education? A.—He never mentioned those subjects.

Q.—You know your mother brought you to New York and left you with Uncle Jack and went away again? A.—Yes.

Q.—Your mother knew Uncle Jack? A.—Yes,—he was her brother.

Q.—And isn't it a fact when you went to school in Long Island Jack used to call for you? A.—Never called for me in his life. He used to work every day. I used to get out of school at 1 o'clock.

LEFT HER IN THE DARK.

Q.—Never took you to picture shows? A.—He took me there and let me go home in the dark. He went off with other young girls and let me go home alone.

Q.—You think it a proper thing to be taken about and chaperoned all the time? A.—Yes, I have always been in the habit of that.

Q.—Do you realize now that for several years up to a couple of years ago Jack was your chaperone day and night? A.—He never chaperoned me to my knowledge any place.

Q.—Well now, Dorothy, did you write a letter once telling Jack you hoped he would be home for Christmas, that it would not seem anything like Christmas not to have him there? A.—Yes, I think I did.

Q.—Of course you didn't mean that when you wrote? A.—No, I wrote it for effect.

Q.—What was the effect, Dorothy? A.—Because my mother told me to. Naturally I wished to obey her wishes, so I would not hurt her feelings.

Q.—Your mother wanted your Uncle Jack there? A.—Yes.

Q.—She told you to write that letter, told you to say that? A.—Yes.

Q.—You never wrote a letter in your life in which you addressed Jack as "Dearest Uncle Jack" when you meant a word of it? A.—No, I don't think I did.

Q.—Well, did you ever write a letter to anybody and use those terms and mean it? A.—Yes, indeed.

Q.—To whom? A.—To my girl friends and Mrs. Jardine.

DIDN'T WANT TO WRITE.

Q.—Did you tell your mother when you wrote that letter you didn't want to write that letter? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you tell her when you wrote "Dear Uncle Jack" you didn't mean it? A.—Certainly not. It would hurt her feelings.

Q.—You knew it would hurt her feelings if you didn't like Uncle Jack? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was it because your mother [illegible] Uncle Jack? A.—I don't know her she felt about it.

Q.—Was it because it would hurt her feelings? She thought a lot of Uncle Jack? A.—Yes?

Q.—You knew she was writing affectionately to Uncle Jack, didn't you? A.—Not that I know of. I knew he was writing to her asking for money. I don't know of her writing to him.

Q.—Don't know she was writing at the time to Uncle Jack? A.—No.

Q.—And closing letters in terms of love and affection? A.—No.

Q.—Don't you know there was letter after letter inquiring for Bunty and speaking of you? A.—My mother had brought up that child practically.

HER THERE FOR PURPOSE.

Q.—Jack's child, Bunty? A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, now, Dorothy, you don't think your father would have Jack living in the house twelve or thirteen years with you and your mother unless he thought Jack was all right A.—I know he had him there for a purpose.

Q.—When did you learn he had Jack there for a purpose? A.—Because my uncle would have threatened to tell me things that I have learned just lately.

Q.—And Dorothy, you say your fate during all these years had Jack in the house for a purpose and that purpose was if he didn't have his there your uncle would have told you things? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you know what your uncle went through to keep that thing a secret? A.—No.

Q.—Do you know the things he suffered and testified he suffered for thirteen years to keep that thing a secret? A.—No.

Q.—If you knew, would it make any difference in your feeling toward Uncle Jack? A.—No. I don't think it would. I don't think he told the truth. He never has told the truth.

Q.—Assuming he sacrificed his life, his time, his position, assuming he covered himself and covered your mother for all those years, would you still believe that Uncle Jack intended to expose you and expose your mother? A.—Yes, I would.

Q.—Assuming he sacrificed his life, his time, his position, assuming he covered himself and covered your mother for all those years, would you still believe that Uncle Jack intended to expose you and expose your mother? A.—Yes, I would.

Q.—And the first time you heard an inkling of it was in Mr. Nason's office after your mother's death? A.—Yes.

Q.—The second time you heard it was from Mary Coakley? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you now believe, Dorothy, Uncle Jack intended all those years, 12, 13 or 14 years, to expose you or your mother? A.—Yes.

Q.—Somebody told you he did? A.—I have heard conversations from my mother that she had to pay him to keep things, that else he would have told things.

DOROTHY IN TEARS.

Q.—Who else told you? A.—Nobody else but my own mother.

Q.—Didn't Mary Coakley tell you? A.—She didn't tell me those words at all.

Q.—Didn't Mary Coakley tell you? A.—She told me about my mother and father.

Q.—Didn't Mary Coakley tell you your mother and father had to pay Jack to keep him from telling things? A.—No, she did not.

Q.—Did you know that Mr. or Mrs. Jardine—— Witness broke down and hearing was suspended until 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Q.—Now, Dorothy, when was it you say your mother told you she paid Jack for keeping things, not telling things? A.—A great many times.

Q.—When was the last time? A.—Just before we went down to Bayside to spend the Summer.

Q.—You mean the Summer before last Summer? A.—No, this last Summer.

Q.—She went to Bayside when? A.—We went to Bayside the last of June.

Q.—Where were you when she told you that? A.—I was in my mother's room while she was writing a letter.

Q.—To Jack. A.—Yes.

Q.—Anybody else present? A.—No.

Q.—When before that had she told you? A.—Many times. She was crying and I asked her to explain things and she said when I was older she would.

Q.—She never did tell you? A.—No.

Q.—Did she tell you she was lonesome? A.—No.

Q.—Did you know she was writing to Jack and signing the letters "Lonesome Lu?' A.—No, I did not.

Q.—You knew she was writing to Jack continually, did you not? A.—Why, yes.

Q.—You knew Jack had told her he was in need of money when he asked for money, didn't you? A.—Yes.

GAVE MONEY TO UNCLE.

Q.—You knew she had been giving money to Jack off and on for years? A.—Yes.

Q.—You knew the last few years she had a great deal more money than ever before in her lifetime? A.—I don't know that.

Q.—You know when your father died she came in possession of thousands and thousands of dollars? A.—No.

Q.—Of course you didn't know what pay Jack was getting in New York, did you? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't know what his demands for money were, did you? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't know he had bought a house on which there was a mortgage he was trying to pay off; pay interest on? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't know he bought furniture? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't know your mother had given him a bed of some kind? A.—Yes, I knew that.

Q.—So when he was asking for money there was no doubt in your mind but what Jack needed money? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't have any objection to your mother giving Jack money when he wanted it? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't consider it any of your affair if she did give him money? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't know then there was a time when your mother had no money? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't know once she lived with Jack, grew up with Jack and they played together before she ever had hardly any money at all? A.—Yes, I knew that.

GRATEFUL TO STELLA.

Q.—You knew that? Now when you came back from Baldwin, L. I., When did you come back from Baldwin, L. I? A.—I went down there during my Easter vacation.

Q.—When you came back did you write Stella a letter? A.—Yes. I think I wrote her a letter thanking her.

Q.—Did you put anything into that letter anything you didn't mean? A.—Why, no.

Q.—You meant to be truthful in everything you said? A.—I wished to thank her for the nice time I had.

Q.—Did anything you said in that letter express the feeling in your heart at that time? A.—Yes.

Q.—Yes. Now, Dorothy, is that the letter you wrote? That is Exhibit 1, April 19, 1915. A.—Yes, it is.

Q.—You headed that letter "Dearest Stella"? A.—Yes. I had always been taught that way in school as a proper form.

Q.—You said: "Here it is Monday and I am back in old bean town." By "old bean town" you meant Boston? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you say in that letter you are glad to hear that Uncle Jack won't have to go under an operation? A.—Yes. I don't want anybody to go under an operation.

Q.—"Thanking you and Uncle Jack for the lovely time I had, with a hug and kiss for all, I will say goodnight. Do let me hear from you all once in a while. Yours lovingly, Dorothy G." Well of course, Dorothy, that was before your mother died? A.—Yes.

Q.—That was before you knew all

MRS. C. M. GARDINER

Aged Roxbury grandmother of Dorothy Gordon, who was permitted to see the heiress in the insane asylum—for the first time in seven years.

the things you know now? A.—Yes.

Q.—That was before Mr. Nason said anything in his office to cause you to inquire, wasn't it? A.—Yes.

Q.—That was before Mary Coakley had told you things? A.—Yes.

Q.—That was before Jack had asked to be appointed your guardian? A.—Yes.

TOLD OF JACK'S SECRET.

Q.—So at the time you wrote that letter there was no reason for having any antipathy against Stella?

A.—No.

Q.—And when you spoke then "Dear Uncle Jack" and "With Love to All" you meant it? A.—That was the only way I could start a letter. I don't know any other way.

Q.—Now, did you write any other letter after that to Stella or Uncle Jack? A.—No, I didn't. I hadn't any occasion to.

Well, now, you wrote there 4 pages, 3½ pages of letter. You wrote that letter because you wanted to, didn't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—You didn't write that letter to please your mother, did you? A.—No.

Q.—Well, now, Dorothy, will you tell us the first time your mother ever told you that Jack has something to tell or was going to tell it, and she was paying money, or anything of the kind? A.—I don't know the exact date. I know it was in the house there in Newton, quite a long time before we went to the beach.

Q.—That was the first time? A.—Not the first time. When we lived in Baldwin, L. I.—

Q.—When was that? A.—I have lived in Boston for two years.

Q.—After that your mother took you to the Baldwin, L. I., house? A.—Yes.

Q.—And left you there. A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, and how many times after you say this was told you did she take you to Jack's house? A.—That is the only time I have been in my uncle's house since I left Baldwin.

Q.—You lived in Baldwin in your own house? A.—Yes.

Q.—Jack didn't have a house when you lived in Baldwin, did he? A.—No.

Q.—He got his house when you moved away? A.—Yes.

GAVE DINNER TO UNCLE JACK.

Q.—Up to the time Jack married he was living with you, wasn't he? A.—Yes.

Q.—At the wedding, weren't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was Mr. Gordon at the wedding, your father? A.—He wasn't present at the wedding, he was present at the house.

Q.—Your mother and father gave a dinner to Jack and his wife? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was this after your mother had told you? A.—My mother had told me before.

Q.—But you didn't know what she meant? A.—No. She wouldn't go into further details.

Q.—Only when you come to put things together now you remember it? A.—Yes.

Q.—Yes, well now, are you sure, Dorothy, she ever told you? A.—Yes, I am positive.

Q.—Isn't that something that came into your head the last six months? A.—No.

Q.—You never heard the case talked over at the table? A.—Not a word.

Q.—Did you know what you were going to be asked here? A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you go over the testimony today? A.—Yes.

Q.—When. A.—At Mr. Nason's office.

Q.—When were you there last? A.—Yesterday.

Q.—Who was with you? A.—Mr. Jardine, Mrs. Jardine and Miss Coakley.

Q.—When were you there before? A.—The day before that.

Q.—Did you go over the testimony then? A.—Yes.

Q.—How many times have you been to Mr. Nason's office going over the testimony A.—About four times, I think.

Q.—Still you didn't know what testimony had been going on here in the courtroom? A.—No.

Q.Did anybody tell you what anything about you? A.—No.

Q.—Did anybody tell you Uncle Jack testified about you? A.—No.

Q.—Then what you did go over was what you testified to here? A.—No.

Q.—That is, you didn't go over that with Mr. Nason in the presence of Mr. Jardine, Mrs. Jardine and Miss Coakley? A.—Some of the things; just what I am saying here in court.

SHE WANTED JARDINE.

Q.—More than three times? A.—No.

Q.—Did he tell you you would be asked who you wanted to be your guardian? A.—He told me to tell whom I wished to be my guardian.

Q.—What did you say you were going to say? A.—I told him I wished Mr. William F. Jardine to be my guardian.

Q.—What did you say to Mr. Nason about having your Uncle Jack as guardian. A.—I told him I didn't wish my uncle. I wouldn't be happy with him; I didn't like him; wouldn't like the surroundings; he wouldn't do right by me; he had always been crazy for money and he would not do right, he would take my money away from me and when I got 21 years of age I would not have anything.

Q.—How did you think your Uncle Jack would get it away from you? A.—He has schemed all his life; he would find some way of getting it.

MOTHER AS GUARDIAN.

Q.—You say that he would get hold of your money and waste it so when you became twenty-one you would have no money? A.—Yes.

Q.—When did you first learn what the duties of a guardian were? A.—When I was at Mr. Nason's office.

Q.—Did he tell you a guardian could take money, steal it, waste it, so when you became twenty-one years of age you would not have any? A.—No, He didn't tell me that.

Q.—Did you know a guardian would have to be under bonds to the court? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you know every year he would have to make a return to the court? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you know he would have to make an accounting? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who told you that? A.—My mother was my guardian and told me that.

Q.—Your mother didn't waste your money? A.—No.

Q.—Your mother let you go to Mt. Ida School? A.—Yes.

Q.—While your mother was guardian, she took you to Uncle Jack's house and left you there? A.—Yes.

Q.—You thought she was a pretty good guardian? A.—Indeed I did!

Q.—You don't think she would take you anywhere you ought not to go? A.—No.

Q.—And your mother left you in Jack's house two weeks? You felt your mother was doing absolutely right, didn't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Absolutely proper? A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, now, do you think if Jack were your guardian you would have to live with Jack in his house? A.—I suppose so.

Q.—You did think if you had somebody other than Jack you would have more freedom? A.—I thought I would have a home of my own.

Q.—Did anybody tell you you could not have that home if you wanted it? A.—I thought if I went to my uncle he would not let me have a home.

Q.—He never told you that? A.—No.

Q.—That information came from some other source? A.—No.

Q.—You know Mr. and Mrs. Jardine had no home to take you to? A.—They gave up their home to come and live with us.

Q.—You know that they had no home; you knew they had a tenement they paid $25 or $27 a month for until they came under your mother's roof? A.—Yes.

DIDN'T CARE FOR COLLEGE.

Q.—You knew the only home they had was your home? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't think for a moment they could give you any home? A.—Yes, I did.

Q.—Do, you realize your home, whatever it is, has got to be paid for out of your money? A.—Why, yes.

Q.—You certainly don't want your money spent extravagantly or wasted? A.—No.

Q.—What are your plans? Do you wish to go to boarding school or college? A.—Why, no, I think I would like to stay right home and go as I am going every day to school.

Q.—That is your plan to go to Mt. Ida School or college? A.—I don't think I will go to college; I wish to take a business course.

Q.—Take a business course? When you are done with this school you don't want to go to some other school? A.—No, I feel I want to take an interest in the business.

Q.—By the business, you mean the Gordon Supply Company? A.—Yes.

Q.—You realize, too, Dorothy, most of your money is in stock? A.—I don't know anything about that.

Q.—Do you realize the business is a corporation and your ownership is stock separate with and distinct from the corporation? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Well, you never thought for a moment, certainly, that Jack didn't know something about the business? A.—I don't see how he can. He is only a driver in the business.

Q.—You think only fourteen years in the business as a driver would not help him to know about the business? A.—No.

Q.—Did you know your mother, when Jack was speaking about it, wrote a letter to him not to go? A.—No.

HER IDEA OF GUARDIAN.

Q.—You never knew he stayed on at her request? she wanted him there for several reasons? A.—No, I never knew it.

Q.—Didn't you know she wrote it wouldn't seem like New York to come to the plant there and not see him around? A.—No.

Q.—Now, if you were selecting a guardian, how differently would you have Uncle Jack from what he is, from what you have known him all your life? Tell us how differently you would have him.. A.—If I were selecting a guardian, I would wish one that had education, experience in business, who would know how to take me to the proper places, teach me to associate with proper people, not to say foolish things, that haven't any meanings to them.

Q.—Now, if I get you, it is this. What you want is to associate with people educated, with fine manners, cultivated, it is your ambition to do that? A.—Yes.

Q.—Therefore, you want a guardian whose companionship, society, position in life, will bring you in touch with these people? A.—Yes.

SATISFIED WITH ARDINE.

Q.—Do you think Mrs. Jardine has any special education? A.—Yes, I do.

Q.—Do you think Mr. Jardine has a superior education? A.—I certainly do.

Q.—Certainly you don't call Mr. Jardine the real height of refinement and the height of education and ability? A.—He had always proved it in my presence.

Q.—And you would not care for anybody who had more refinement, education and social standing than Mr. or Mrs. Jardine? A.—No.

Q.—And anybody else the court might appoint who had that amount of education, refinement and social standing or morals would supply that, would it not? A.—Yes.

Q.—Dorothy, you are learning a little every year? A.—Yes.

Q.—You feel you are broadening out so you are grasping things? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you think now, in a year from now, you might possibly change your mind as to Mr. and Mrs. Jardine? A.—No, I shan't. If I did I wouldn't have made the request.

Q.—You think you would not have made the request? Do you realize that in managing corporations, and business, there might be a possibility of corporations going into the hands of receivers and stocks being reduced, business failing because the owner of the business had died and left it, and you might be left without money? A.—Yes.

UNCLE NOT REFINED.

Q.—You realize you have got four or five years of your life to live before you become twenty-one years of age? A.—Yes, I do.

Q.—Now, you feel that your Uncle Jack hasn't education enough to be your guardian. A.—I feel as though I didn't want him to. I shouldn't be happy with him.

Q.—Do you feel he hasn't refinement enough? A.—I know he hasn't refinement enough?

Q.—You feel he couldn't take you and introduce you to proper persons? A.—I know he couldn't.

Q.—Do you realize in order to help you cultivate a fine personality you should be in the company of moral people? A.—Yes, I do.

Q.—People who do not drink or smoke cigarettes? A.—Yes.

Q.—Women who have led good lives before? A.—Yes.

Q.—And women who do not lie? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you feel it is absolutely essential to have a woman about you who has some moral standing?

A.—Yes, I do.

Q.—And of course, at your age, you don't claim to be able to tell whether or not a woman older than yourself is moral, do you? A.—No, I don't

MRS. JARDINE DRANK BEER.

Q.—Have you believed up to this time Mrs. Jardine was a moral woman always? A.—Yes, I have.

Q.—Have you seen her drink? A.—I have seen her drink at our house a glass of beer.

Q.—How many times have you seen her drink at your house? A.—In the evenings when my father and mother were present.

Q.—Have you been out with Mrs. Jardine and your mother when Mrs. Jardine has drunk, outside, in cafes? A.—Yes, I have.

Q.—Have you seen her drink outside in cafes? A.—No, only a glass of beer.

Q.—Have you seen her drink more than a glass of beer? A.—No, I have not.

Q.—Were you in the party when Aubrey Pettit, your mother and father, Uncle Jack and Mrs. Jardine went to Rockaway? A.—No, I was not.

Q.—You don't know what happened there? A.—No.

Q.—Do you remember saying a short time before your mother's death, in speaking of Mr. Jardine, that he was like a dog around the house? A.—No.

Q.—That he abused his wife? A.—I never used that expression.

Q.—That he didn't keep his clothes pressed? A.—No, I never mentioned that subject. My uncle said that to me when I was down in Baldwin and I just smiled and kept still and didn't answer.

MOTHER HAD QUARREL.

Q.—Do you remember times your mother and father were having quarrels and your father leaving the house and Jack going to bring your father back? A.—I can only remember when my Uncle Jack was the cause of the quarrel.

Q.—I don't care who was the cause. Do you remember a time when there was trouble between your father and mother when Jack went to bring your father back to New York? A.—Yes, I remember.

Q.—What year was that? A.—I don't know. I can't remember the year.

Q.—When was it? A.—All of three years ago.

Q.—Your father left hurriedly? A.—That is when my father was very unwell.

Q.—Jack went out and got him and brought him back? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you remember more than one occasion when Jack did that? A.—Yes, I do.

Q.—What were the other occasions you remember? A.—That was when my father would get stirred up. He couldn't help it, he was very unwell.

HEIRESS AND HER COUSINS

CHANGE IN GIRL IS SHOCK TO GRANDMA

By BERT FORD

(Copyright, 1922, by the Boston American)

Dorothy Gordon and her grandmother stood face to face in Dorothy's room in McLean Asylum for Insane at Waverley at dusk yesterday. It was their first meeting in seven years.

Dorothy's grandmother is Mrs. Catherine M. Gardiner of No. 1101 Tremont street, Boston. She is seventy-five years of age and poor. She had gone, heart fluttering and limbs quaking under her, to "see what they have been doing to my little Dorothy."

"Tears welled up in my eyes when I saw her," said Mrs. Gardiner. "She was as pretty as a wild rose and as free as a bird, sound in mind and body, when I saw her last, the day they buried her poor mother in 1915. But she's changed today.

SAW "AWFUL CHANGE"

"Mind you, she was as healthy appearing as ever in body. Her color was good and she looked the picture of health. It was in her sad eyes and in her dull manner that I noticed the awful change.

"She glanced vacantly at me as I questioned her, recalling vivid little incidents in the hope that I could kindle her thoughts, and at last she exclaimed:

"If we were only in another room, in that room on Hunnewell avenue, I could tell you a whole lot Grandmother! Oh, Grandma, dear."

"I couldn't quite grasp what the child meant by that. But she didn't want to get out of the place That surprised me as much as her changed condition grieved me. She said she wanted to stay; that they were treating her well there. And I came away relieved."

Former Maid of Jardines to Testify

Mary Coakley, the former Jardine maid, from whose lips Dorothy Gordon learned that she was an illegitimate child, has returned from California and is living in Massachusetts.

It is probable that she will be a witness at the Dorothy Gordon hearing when the case is resumed next Friday.

Miss Coakley was a visitor at the home of William F. Jardine, the Gordon heiress' guardian, within the past ten days. This was admitted today by Mrs. Jardine, who further declares that she expects the former maid to return to their home within the next week.

Mrs. Jardine does not know the present whereabouts of Miss Coakley, she said, although she knows that she is living somewhere in Massachusetts, not far from Boston."

Mrs. Jardine declared that she does not expect Miss Coakley to be a witness on the Jardine side at the resumed hearing. She would not be surprised, however, to learn that the young woman is to be called as a witness for the opposing side.

STATE EXPERTS OPEN PROBE IN GORDON CASE

The State today began its official investigation of the Dorothy Gordon case.

Following a conference with Acting Governor Alvan T. Fuller, Dr. George M. Kline, commissioner of mental diseases, accompanied by his deputy, Dr. Lowell Wentworth, went to the McLean Insane Asylum at Waverley.

Their purpose was to see and talk with Dorothy.

Prior to leaving for Waverley Dr. Kline said:

"Lieutenant-Governor Fuller has asked me to ascertain the mental condition of Dorothy Gordon at the time of her last commitment to the McLean Insane Asylum and the regularity of that commitment.

VISIT EVERY PATIENT.

"This department has investigated the case. Dr. Bonner, former assistant superintendent of the Worcester State Hospital and now institutions physician of this department, made his regular inspection of McLean Hospital two weeks ago. He visited Dorothy Gordon about the time the hearing in her case began. He talked with her.

"In these inspections the examiner attempts to see every patient during his visit. The superintendent or his escort introduces the inspector as a representative of the State. "If the patient desires to talk privately with the inspector, the escort retires. If the inspector desires to talk privately with the patient, he orders the escort to retire. The examiner asks for all the commitment papers, and it is his duty to establish their regularity.

READY TO TESTIFY.

"Some time today or tomorrow this department will issue a further statement on the case of Dorothy Gordon, as to the regularity of her committal and as to general conditions at the McLean Hospital. I have been reluctant to do this. I have preferred that the court should ask for it. But statements made by Dr. Packard and the trustees of the hospital, and the fact that the case has attracted general interest, has induced me to make this statement.

"At present I will not discuss, as a psychiatrist, the mental condition of Dorothy. If the court wishes me to do so, I will be glad to give my opinion. I feel the court ought to ask for it."

"Voluntary Patient," Declares Dr. Hoch

Dr. Theodore A. Hoch, who admitted Dorothy Gordon to the hospital in 1921, told reporters, who found him at the home of friends in Worcester, that Dorothy was a voluntary patient when she entered the institution. If she were not, he said, he would surely have discovered it in his interviews with her, and would have reported it to the proper authorities.

He also promised to return to Waverley and investigate if testimony in the present legal battle reveals any doubt that the girl belonged in the hospital when she was admitted, or did not desire to go there.

WHY DID DOROTHY GO TO THE ASYLUM?

Why was Dorothy Gordon placed in a madhouse? What was her condition at the home of William F. Jardine, her guardian, before the doors of the asylum clanged behind her?

Read the testimony in the hearing of the attempt to oust Jardine as her guardian.

The American today resumes the publication of the transcript of the evidence in the hearing, and Jardine has been the only witness called thus far. This evidence may answer for the reader the questions which flash up with each new development of this remarkable case.

Jardine is on the stand. He is being examined by Attorney John L. Sheehan, counsel for John D. Gardiner, Dorothy's uncle, who is trying to remove Jardine as guardian:

FIRM WENT IN DEBT.

Q.—Well, you were running it as one of the administrators, and do you mean to say that the Davis business didn't go $30,000 in the hole? A.—It might have gone more or less.

Q.—Well, you were in a position to know whether it went more or less, weren't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you did find out some things or other? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you mean to tell us it didn't go $30,000 in the hole under your administration? A.—It might have gone more, and it might have gone less.

Q.—And you think you are fit to carry on business. A.—I certainly do.

HIRES NEW HOME.

Q.—When you hired this place on Massachusetts avenue you hired it in your own name? A.—I certainly did.

Q.—And who went to live there? A.—Myself and wife and mother and Miss Gordon.

Q.—And your sister? A.—Yes, for a time.

Q.—How many rooms were there in that house? A.—Ten rooms.

Q.—How much rent did you pay? A.—Sixty-five dollars when I first went there.

Q.—Dorothy was put in a room back of the oil, wasn't she? A.—No.

Q.—Where was she put? A.—Directly opposite our room.

Q.—She had one window in the room? A.—She had two windows.

Q.—And it opened on the oil? A.—Pardon me, it opened on an air shaft.

Q.—How many bed rooms did you have? A.—Four bed rooms.

GOT HOUSEKEEPER FREE.

Q.—Who occupied them? A.—My mother was in one, and Miss Gordon was in one; I was in one, and Miss Conkly was in the other.

Q.—Who is Miss Conkly? A.—She was housekeeper at that time for me.

Q.—Well, who paid her? A.—I paid her from the time I took hold down there—that is, after I was appointed, and the estate paid her up to the—I think paid her some money in Mrs. Gordon's lifetime.

Q.—Who paid Mary Conkly, what I want to know. That is not a very hard question. A.—I just told you.

Q.—Mary Conkly was a witness against Jack Gardiner in the other case wasn't she? A.—She was a witness.

Q.—Did you bring her back from California? A.—I did not.

Q.—What is she doing at your house? A.—At present time she is taking care of my mother.

NOT ORDERED OUT.

Q.—And of course the estate of Dorothy Gordon is paying for it? A.—It is not.

Q.—Who is paying for it? A.—I am.

Q.—How long did you live at this house on Massachusetts avenue? A.—Let's see—1916—five years, I think.

Q.—Five years. Were you ordered out of that house? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Were you complained of because you used to get drunk? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did you have parties there at the house? A.—I may have had birthday parties—

Q.—No, did you have drinking, rum parties there? A.—No. Occasionally we would telephone down to the commissioner to play the piano or victrola after 10 o'clock.

Q.—I am talking about rum parties, just plain rum. A.—I said no.

WHY DID GIRL ENTER INSANE ASYLUM?

to quit? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't you get a notice to quit from either Delaney or Fred McLeod? A.—No.

Q.—You didn't move on account of getting a notice to quit? A.—My husband moved—

Q.—Well, didn't you move in consequence of notice to quit? A.—No.

Q.—What date do you say you went to this apartment in Cambridge? A.—When I first lived there?

Q.—Yes. A.—September, 1916.

Q.—Did Dorothy go with you? A.—Yes.

Q.—And then she went to this school in Connecticut from Cambridge? A.—Yes, sir; she went the latter part of September or the first part of October.

DOROTHY COMES BACK.

Q.—Of what year? A.—1916.

Q.—And when did she come home? A.—She came home—she was at home Thanksgiving.

Q.—For how long? A.—Oh, I should say perhaps two or three days.

Q.—Yes. A.—And then she came home again at Christmas.

Q.—Yes; for how long? A.—Why, I think the Christmas holidays was a week.

Q.—Yes. And when did she come home again? A.—She didn't go back.

Q.—She didn't go back? A.—No.

Q.—You have a girl from the State, a State ward, doing work there and going to school? A.—Yes.

Q.—While Dorothy was off to school, you were paying $65 a month weren't you? A.—I was, yes.

Q.—And while she was off to school I presume she was paying her school expenses? A.—Yes.

Q.—And while she was off to school you were charging the estate of Dorothy Gordon $50 a month for the room she occupied on Massachusetts avenue? A.—A part of the time, yes.

Q.—For one room out of ten? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—How long a time did you charge her that? Let's see, 1916—the first three years I charged her nothing; it was for the last three years.

Q.—Dorothy came home from school, and she didn't go back? A.—Yes, that is right.

Q.—Did you put her in the Waverley Insane Asylum then? A.—You mean in December?

Q.—Yes. A.—No.

Q.—How long had you been her guardian then? A.—Why, legally, since some time in February, but actively——.

Q. — How many months do you figure that would be? A.—Why, I should say ten months.

Q. — And her condition changed under your guardianship in ten months? A.—Her condition changed in December.

Q.—Had you been down to see her while she was in Connecticut? A.—I was not; no, sir.

Q.—Did Mrs. Jardine go down to see her while she was in Connecticut? A.—No, sir.

GIRL CAME HOME ALONE.

Q.—Mrs. Jardine took her down to the school in Connecticut and left her. She came home alone, did she? A.—No, she came home with two or three older girls.

Q.—Well, you say on account of her condition she did not go back. When was she due back? A.—I don't remember just what day Christmas fell on that year, but I think it was the following Monday after the recess was over.

Q.—What condition do you say she was in then? A.—Why, nervous, very nervous.

Q.—Very nervous. She had been home then how long? A.—Why, I should say a week.

Q.—And she got very bad in that week she was home, did she? A.—There was a change in her before.

Q.—Did she get very bad in the week that she was home? A.—No, not very bad.

Q.—Not very bad? A.—Not very bad, no.

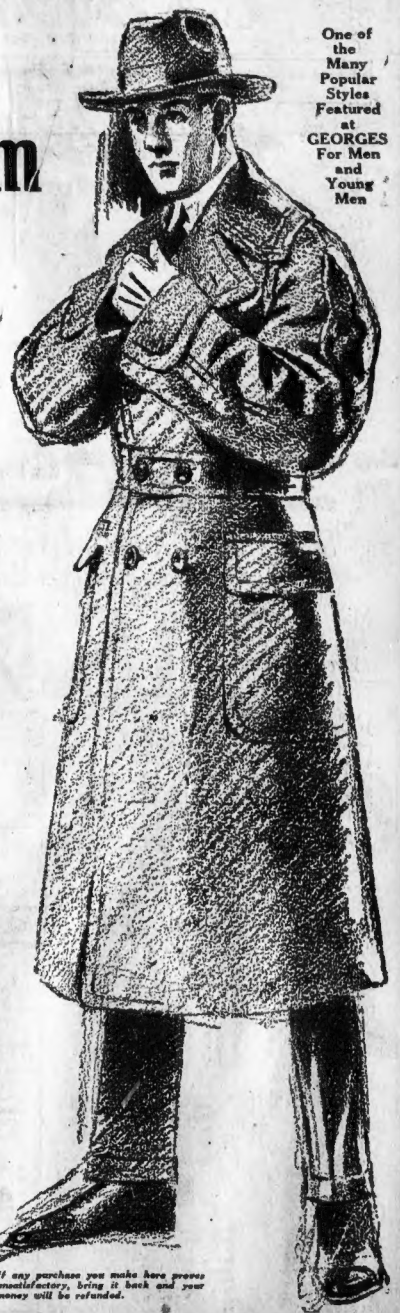
FOR MEN AND YOUNG MEN

Embracing every favored model, fabric, pattern and color!



One of the Many Popular Styles Featured at GEORGES For Men and Young Men

If it's new, WE HAVE IT—make up your mind to that, because we show EVERYTHING in Overcoats produced by 40 nationally famous makers. From the shortest to the longest; from great big-collared sorts to the dapper little kinds; loose or fitted; colors that range from the raciest to the most subdued; coats for dress; for sport; lined coats, blanket backs; single-breasted, double-breasted; coats with belts and without; models galore; fabrics of every kind. Nothing missing—absolutely nothing. And the best values offered in Boston, bar none!

$22.50 $25 $30 $35 $40 $45 $50 $55 $60

If ever Boston showed outspoken preference for a store, it has for GEORGES. We EARNED it. We are GETTING it. It gave us success because we DESERVE it. We gave Boston a DIFFERENT kind of a clothing store—where a man was not restricted to the choice of one or two makes, but had practically every nationally famous brand to choose from. On top of that we have made our prices $5 to $15 LOWER than the same qualities are priced elsewhere. We could do that because of our great chain store business—a vast purchasing power that commands BETTER prices than individual clothiers enjoy. This combined with the low margin of profit that our huge volume permits are the reasons why we are $5 to $15 lower in our price than our nearest competitor.

We Fit Men of All Sizes and Proportions

We make a specialty of fitting the hard-to-fit, regardless of size. For students 31 to 36. For men and young men, regulars 33 to 48. Shorts 33 to 42. Longs 36 to 46. Stouts and extra sizes 37 to 52.

1 and 2 Pants Suits

The widespread demand for 2-Pants Suits is admirably met here. But we make it optional with the buyer, so as to give him exactly what he wants, pricing our stock on the basis of a single pair of trousers. If you wish an extra pair, you may have them by paying an additional charge as follows:

$5.00 Extra for additional Pants with $25 Suits

$6.50 Extra for additional Pants with $30 Suits

Proportionately higher prices for the better grades

Suits and Overcoats at $25 that challenge comparison

The elaborate variety and immense quality we display at this popular price, and the extraordinary value they represent for the money, have made this offering attractive to thousands of buyers. We made our plans for this big feature value months ago, buying for spot cash during the slack season in the New York, Baltimore and Rochester markets, large quantities of Suits and Overcoats at money-saving prices. See them in our windows!

40 ARE HELD IN FATAL AMBUSH ON KLANSMEN

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 17.—More than forty residents of Pulaski county were held in jail here today for investigation in connection with an attack from ambush on those attending a community meeting at Jessieville, Wednesday, at which measures for law enforcement were discussed. Jeff Howell was killed and several others wounded during the attack.

A number of men robed in regalia similar to that of the Ku Klux Klan attended the meeting, but took no part.

At a similar meeting on the previous night the white-robed visitors had handed one of the speakers a note declaring the Klan was determined to put a stop to the liquor traffic in the county.

The attack Wednesday night was made on the white-garbed men as they were removing their robes near the building where the meeting was held.

Additional arrests were expected today.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

Dawson—The Yukon River was frozen over today for the first time this season.

Mobile — The Norwegian steamer Falkefjell was raided and 100 quarts of Scotch whiskey seized.

Chita, Siberia (Via London)—The National Assembly today voted to abolish the Far Eastern Republic and to hand over administration of all Siberia to the Moscow Soviet.

YANKEE GIRL'S HUSBAND CAN'T GET PASSPORT

Budapest, Nov. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Count Anton Sigray, who married the American heiress, Harriet Daly, daughter of the late Marcus Daly, an American copper king, has been refused a passport to the United States by the Hungarian police.

The count has protested to the National Assembly. The police say their decision was based on Count Sigray's alleged complicity in the last attempt of former King Charles to regain his throne. After Sigray was arrested he was released on bail of 2,000,000 kronen pending trial. The police interpret his desire to leave the country as an endeavor to evade trial. In American money his bail bond amounts to about $400.

Countess Sigray said today the trip to the United States had been arranged long ago, but was prevented by the arrest.

Berlin.—Wilhelm Cuno, newly designated German chancellor, planned to begin selecting a ministry upon his return today from Hamburg, where he went to adjust his affairs as director-general of the Hamburg-American steamship line.

Monmouth, Ill. — Sterling Morelock of Oquawka, has been awarded the Congressional medal of honor for bravery under fire in France.

Seattle—Capture by pirates of the schooner Daisy, laden with whiskey, cost him $37,000, Larry Talbert, owner, declared.

Victoria, B. C. — In the sixteen months of operation of the Provincial liquor control act it has netted British Columbia $121,3[illegible].

TWO BANDITS ARE ROUTED BY WOMAN

Norton, Nov. 17.—Chief of Police Benjamin B. Scanlon and his police force searched the woods as far as the Mansfield town line for two men who made separate attempts to hold up two women on Mansfield avenue.

Mrs. Herbert Westgate was driving to the centre to take her husband home from work when two masked men suddenly jumped from a clump of bushes and commanded her to stop.

Mrs. Westgate, who is accustomed to driving through the woods late at night, replied to the command by whipping out a revolver and firing two shots at the men, who disappeared in the woods.

She reported the occurrence to Chief Scanlon on her arrival in the centre and had not left the chief's house when Mrs. John Morseau reported that in practically the same locality, a half hour later, she was accosted by two strange men, one of whom attempted to get into the carriage in which she was riding, while the other grabbed the bridle of the horse.

Mrs. Moreau said she lashed the horse, who dashed forward so suddenly that the man fell under the wheels. The other man went to his assistance.

Q.—Was she worse at the end of the week than she was when she came home? A.—Why, yes.

Q.—So the environment was not very good for her, was it, in your house? A.—Why, yes.

Q.—Think it was, although she got worse? A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, was she sick for a long time? A.—No, only a short time.

Q.—What doctors did you have for her? A.—We called in Dr. Crowell first.

Q.—Of Cambridge? A.—Of Dorchester.

Q.—You went to Dorchester for a doctor for Dorothy? A.—Yes, that is who we called in.

Q.—And is he a specialist? A.—Why, not on mental conditions, no.

Q.—I didn't ask you that. Is he a specialist? A.—No.

Q.—Then he is not a mental expert? A.—No, sir.

Q.—You noticed her nervous condition when she came home? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And she didn't get better that week? A.—She didn't get over it.

U. S. MUST SHUN ALL ALLIANCES, SAYS SCHWAB

Copyright, 1922, By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 17.—While business conditions in the United States and the world generally are unsettled because of uncertainty over the European situation, it is nevertheless not up to the United States to call any world economic conference such as has been proposed from time to time, declared Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, today in an interview with International News Service.

"I am a firm believer," said the millionaire steel head, "in the principles laid down by the men who founded the country, of no entangling alliances abroad."

TAKES ISSUE WITH GARY.

In opposing any general conference Schwab takes a position directly opposed to Judge E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation who, in an address to steel men a few weeks ago, advocated the calling of such a conference by President Harding.

"This nation," said Schwab, "is endowed with great natural resources, which we should turn into gold and, while I believe we should adopt a helpful attitude towards other nations, I do not believe we should take a position of being responsible along with that helpfulness."

URGES SHIP SUBSIDY.

The immediate passage of the ship subsidy bill by Congress will give a great impetus to American business, Schwab believes. He said his own company, the Bethlehem Steel Company, was forced to give contracts abroad to foreign ships to carry iron ore because there were no American ships available.

"It is not possible for us to compete with the commerce of the world," he said, "unless we get our shipping on the same basis as theirs."

Schwab said he was unable to understand why the West and the Middle West, the great grain belt of the country, is opposed to the ship subsidy.

BONZANO AMONG 7 TO BE MADE CARDINALS

Rome, Nov. 17.—(By International News Service)—The following will be created cardinals at the December 17 consistory at the Vatican: Archbishop Cassetta of Toledo Archbishop of Charost of Rennes; Archbishop Touchet of Orleans; Archbishop Herle of Germany; Archbishop Vosi of Milan; Monsignor Lucatelli, nuncio to Lisbon, and Monsignor Bonzano, apostolic delegate to Washington.

MANCHESTER HERALD DESTROYED BY FIRE

Manchester, Conn., Nov. 17.—The Manchester Evening Herald plant, a two-story brick building owned by the the Herald Printing Company, was burned today. It was thought an explosion, possibly of gas in the heating plant, started the fire. Owing to low water pressure it was quickly beyond control. The loss was placed at $150,000. Most of the mechanical equipment, including a new press, being was wrecked. The newspaper accepted an offer from the Hartford Courant to use its plant for the time

CHILDREN'S DEATH TOLL BY AUTOS THE GREATEST EVER

195 KILLED IN FIRST 10 MONTHS OF 1922

October, the "death month," took a toll in this State of 78 lives in auto accidents. Twenty-nine of them were children.

Although 75,000 more cars were on the road, the number killed was three less than in October last year.

A total of 477 persons was killed by autos in the first ten months of this year. Of that number 116 were children.

In the same period a year ago 488 persons were killed, 173 of them children.

"It is a sad toll, but conditions have actually improved," said Frank A. Goodwin, the State registrar of motor vehicles, today.

"The increase in the number of children killed this year was due in part to the enormous increase in the number of autos and in part to the fact that the children have not heeded so well as adults the lessons of the safety campaigns which have been waged.

There were nine fewer adults, but six more children killed in October than in the same month last year.

October has won the unsought title of "death month" because auto deaths usually reach the peak in that month, due to the unsafe conditions of the roads.

Statistics for Boston show that 102 persons were killed by automobiles between December 1, 1921 and November 1, 1922. In the twelve months preceding there were eighty-eight fatalities, an increase in eleven months of fourteen.

Society Women Hostesses for Industrial School Tea, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

MRS. FREDERICK W. BUSK

Mrs. Frederick Wadsworth Busk (Harriet Fessenden) is one of the many young matrons planning for the success of the giant Midway, which is to be one of the best features of the Atlantic City Boardwalk Exposition.

INVITATIONS have gone out from the North Bennet Street Industrial School—a philanthrophy in which many society folk interest themselves—for a tea and private view of antique furniture and rare objects of art. The latter have been collected during the past Summer by the director of the school on his travels in Portugal, Spain and Italy.

Among the prominent hostesses for the tea and private exhibition, which takes place next Tuesday from 2:30 to 6 o'clock, are Mesdames John S. Ames, S. Parker Bremer, Arthur T. Cabot, Gorham Brooks, Samuel Cabot, Harold J. Coolidge, Charles E. Cotting, Russell G. Fessenden, Walter Hunnewell, Charles B. Prince, John L. Saltonstall, Quincy A. Shaw, Frederic L. W. Richardson and Moses Williams.

NOW that the Freddy Wadsworth Busks (Harriet Fessenden) are settled in their recently purchased home in Chestnut Hill, all their Boston friends are delighted that they should once more have in their midst this very popular couple.

Few girls were more noted for their jolliness and charm than the one-time Harriet Fessenden, second daughter of the Sewall H. Fessendens, who made her debut some four or five years ago. Verily have the Fessendens a quartet of lovely daughters. The eldest, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Jr. (Caroline Fessenden), tall and slim, and so noted for her frail brunette beauty, is coming to be one of Boston society's leaders, and this, despite her youthfulness. Miss Louise Fessenden is the third daughter, who very closely resembles Mrs. Freddy Busk, with her blonde hair, smiling gray-blue eyes and saucy nose. Louise has quite a lovely voice and is gradually taking a very prominent place in amateur theatricals. Rose Fessenden is the youngest, always easily distinguished for her very blonde hair and very blue eyes. Last May her engagement to young Edward L. Bigelow, Harvard '21, was announced.

Mrs. Freddy Busk is only one of the very many Social Register folk working busily for the success of the gigantic Midway, which is to be one of the "sure-fire-hittest" features of the widely-paragraphed Atlantic Boardwalk Exposition, coming to town on December 1.

ONE of the notable bud functions of the season is scheduled for Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Francis Warren Bacon will give a tea to introduce her daughter, Miss Eliza Bacon. The affair will take place at the Bacons' home on Addington road, Brookline.

A good many of Eliza Bacon's fellow-buds consider that she is a very lucky person because her mother was formerly a Baltimorean, which, of course, entitles Eliza's presentation at the ultra-exclusive Baltimore "Monday Germans." Besides all this festivity, Mrs. John Lindsay is to give a dance for her in New York at the Copley Club, so that she will really be a bud of three cities.

AT the Central Presbyterian Church in New York, William De Ford Beal of Boston today marries Miss Beatrice Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Morris Starr of Gotham.

The groom, a Harvard '11 man, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Prince Beal of Gloucester street. Almost the entire corps of ushers are Boston men, the best man being the bridegroom's brother, Tommy Beal, Jr., member of the Harvard '04 class.

ON Saturday night of this week, two clever artists, the Misses Berthe and Francesca Braggiotti, are to dance at Jordan Hall for the benefit of the Scollay Square Service Club. The affair is in charge of Mrs. William Stanley (Betty Porter)—so noted for her clever monologues—and her sister, Miss Frances Porter, as well as Mrs. Frederick H. Tappan.

A DANSANTE at the Chilton Club is the chosen form of presentation for Miss Olga Frothingham, which her aunt, Miss Regenia Frothingham, is giving next Wednesday for her. The young bud, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Langdon Frothingham, is of the group of girls who spent the past season in study abroad.

BAPTISTS WAR ON DARWIN THEORY

Middlesboro, Ky., Nov. 17.—Kentucky Baptists pledged themselves here to withdraw financial support from their denominational schools in Turkey in which the Darwinian or any other theory of evolution held, to contradict any part of the Bible is taught.

The resolution also provided that the Southern Baptist Convention be memorialized to withhold financial support from all schools in which the rationalistic theory of evolution is taught as a fact.

Waco, Tex., Nov. 17.—More than 3,000 delegates of the Baptist convention of Texas, debated whether the Darwinian theory is being taught at Baylor University. The discussion came as a consequence of an investigation of alleged teachings of heresy at Baylor by a committee whose findings were negative.

2 BOSTON DAUGHTERS SHARE IN BIG ESTATE

Mrs. Reginald Boardman International News Reel Photo.

Mrs. Reginald Boardman of No. 73 Marlboro street and Mrs. Charles Minot Amory, also of Boston, are made beneficiaries of an estate valued at $3,000,000 by the terms of the will of Mrs. Carrie L. Munn, formerly a leader of Washington, Philadelphia and North Shore society.

Mrs. Munn died as the result of injuries sustained in an auto accident at Beverly October 3. Her estate is to be divided among her five children after a bequest of $1,000 is given to a servant. The other beneficiaries are Charles A. and Gurnee Munn of Philadelphia and Hector Munn of Washington. Charles and Gurnee are named executors.

In the event none of the five children named Beering children a hospital to be called the Munn Hospital will be established in Chicago.

COLLEGES MUST BE FOR ALL, DR. FLINT SAYS

Syracuse, Nov. 17.—Dr. Charles Wesley Flint, inducted as chancellor of Syracuse University today, declared in his inaugural address that the institution which seeks not to protect itself for one class or type against all others, but which seeks to protect itself as a servant of all types against the dominance of any one, seems most to reflect the ideal of America.

"If it receives more applicants than can be accommodated," Dr. Flint said, "then the proportion of each group or class admitted should be such as to preserve the balance and correspondence of the institution within to society without. Any other basis would be contrary to the spirit of America.

"The truly American university will be open to all who can and dare, for America will not stand for exclusion on any other basis than demonstrated unworthiness. Set your hurdles at a proper height and those who can may clear them.

OLDEST CAPTAIN SEES BIGGEST STEAMSHIP

The oldest sea captain in the world today visited the largest vessel in the world.

Captain Eli B. Rockwell, 84 years old, who is in daily active command of the Vermont, a Lake Champlain steamer, was today shown about the Majestic, in drydock at South Boston, by Commodore Sir Bertram Hayes, and was the commodore's guest at luncheon. Captain Rockwell declared there were only two places in Lake Champlain where the huge liner could turn around.

The Vermont is about the size of the Dorothy Bradford, and Captain Rockwell has commanded it since it was launched 12 years ago.

Fails From Truck; Dying

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 17.—Thomas J. Fleming, employed by the Union Wadding Company, is at the Memorial Hospital with a fractured skull, the result of a fall from a motor truck which he was driving into the company's yard. He is not expected to recover.

DORRIT TELLS HOW WOODHOUSE 'RUSHED' HER IN COURTING DAYS

CALLED 4 TIMES A DAY

Flowers, Candy Telephones and Letters in Her Engagement to Millionaire's Son

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 17.—That Charles Douglas Woodhouse was present at Dorrit Stevens' house daily before breakfast, that he waved his hand to her on his way to the bank, telephoned every morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, smoked his after luncheon cigar at her home, came to the house as soon as banking hours were over and called every evening for a period of nearly two years before he went into the army was testified today by Mrs. Dorrit Van Deusen Stevens Woodhouse, suing Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Woodhouse for a million dollars for alienation of her husband's affections.

Mrs. Woodhouse's appearance on the stand came as a surprise at the opening of court today. She was attired in a dark suit, and a ripple of admiration went over the crowded court room on her entrance. She testified in a low voice, and attorneys for the defence raised a clamor most of the time in an effort to get her to speak louder.

MET HIM AT A BALL.

Dorrit testified that she was born in 1893. She first met Douglas at a ball at the University of Vermont in 1912 and did not see much of him for some time later. But when they happened to be in the vicinity of each other they spent considerable time in each other's company. She pursued her studies in music in New York, Potsdam and other places, and in the Fall of 1915 she went to the Philippines to visit her cousin, Colonel Edward Van Deusen. On her return the following Spring she was met in port by a letter and a telegram from Douglas. When she reached Burlington Douglas and her mother met her.

From that time the acquaintance ripened, and until Woodhouse went into the army the daily schedule called for meetings before breakfast, waving of hands after breakfast, telephone calls in the middle of the forenoon, from 4 to 6 in the afternoon and evenings together.

Dorrit testified that Douglas took her to dinners, balls and the theatre, and they went on fishing and motoring trips when the weather permitted. When she went to Westfield to visit her aunt for two weeks, Douglas came after her in company with her mother. On every occasion of her absence from Burlington Douglas wrote her letters and sent her telegrams.

Q.—Did he ever make you any presents up to the time of your engagement? A.—Why, he always kept me well supplied with candy, flowers and music.

Q.—Did you ever endeavor to take up any occupation by which you could earn your own living? A.—I have.

Q.—What? A.—I started to do settlement work in New York city.

When asked as to how far her plans had progressed, she replied that she had made arrangements for classes.

Q.—What caused you to break up your plans. A.—I received some communications from Douglas.

Later testimony of Mrs. Woodhouse disclosed the fact that the couple became engaged in February, 1918, a few days before his entrance into the army. They were to be married as soon as he received his commission. After his entrance into the army the meetings became less frequent but they were together on every possible occasion.

Wins Divorce

Katherine Bean, known to the vaudeville stage as Katherine Van Buren, secured a divorce from her husband, George Bean, after she produced in court flaming love letters written by another woman to her husband. The judge in discussing the letters, said they must have been written by a woman "with the soul of a poet and the head of a philosopher." The letters convinced the judge, he said, of the finality of Bean's love for the writer of the letters.

21 POISONED AT YALE; BOSTON BOY VICTIM

Among the students are Harlow S. Pearson, son of President Edward J. Pearson of the New Haven Railroad; S. S. Hill, Wernerville, Pa.; E. D. Roemer, Bowling Green, Ky.; R. A. Hamsdell, Buffalo; C. C. Shaw, Dorchester, Mass.; C. H. Blatchford, Portland, Me.; D. Bacon, Rochester, N. Y.; W. J. Carpenter, Salem, Ohio; A. Agnew, Flushing, N. Y.; O. B. Judson, Cleveland; J. G. Hand, Philadelphia; H. J. Koehler, East Orange, N. J.; H. R. Norton, Omaha, Neb.; M. B. Sanders, Little Rock, Ark.; J. D. Stocker, Scranton, Pa.; F. Bradley, Camden, Me.

Liquor Raider Burns Hand in Barrel of Acid Behind Bar

A barrel full of liquid which was kept behind a bar in a near-beer saloon at No. 242 Main street, Charlestown, proved to be highly acid in nature when Patrolman Garrett of the headquarters liquor squad thrust his hand into it.

Garrett, with two other officers, raided the saloon. William Driscoll, the bartender, dumped the contents of a bottle of liquor into the barrel as they entered, and Garrett reached a cup in to scoop up the liquor for evidence. His hand was painfully burned.

Driscoll was arrested charged with violating the Volstead Act.

IMPEACHMENT OF DAUGHERTY TO BE PUSHED

Washington, Nov. 17 (By International News Service).—Far from being "dead," the impeachment proceedings against Attorney-General Daugherty will be undertaken with renewed vigor when Congress gets under way again Monday.

This was announced here today following a conference between Representative Roy O. Woodruff, Republican, of Michigan and Representative Oscar E. Keller, Republican, of Minnesota, the two chief critics of the Attorney-General in the House.

EXPRESS DRIVERS TO AVERT ACCIDENTS

The express companies in Boston have enlisted in a national campaign to contribute to public safety in the operation of express vehicles. It was stated today by W. A. SUSPECTED MRS. RAAB WAS 'SPY' AT DOW PARTY

ROBINSON SAYS GUESTS HAD 'WORRIED' ABOUT HER

ness today, and one of the other defendants, testified those at the party thought Mrs. Raab was "planted" there to get information on the Preston murder.

Carl P. Dow, husband of Mrs. Kate Adams Dow, declared in testimony that he saw no one lay hands on Mrs. Raab at the party.

"UNINVITED GUEST."

Mrs. Dow testified that Mrs. Raab had been at her house only four times and that she met her two other times on the street.

She testified that she never invited Mrs. Raab to her home but that the girl had persisted in calling her up on the telephone almost daily after she first met her at Suntag Inn.

She asserted that, when she met Raab asked him to kiss her good night. He turned away disgusted and went upstairs."

HAS KNOWN LOUD 10 YEARS.

In cross-examination Mrs. Dow said she had known Clarence W. Loud ten years. She declared that she was "mortified" over Mrs. Raab's party conduct and thought her guests were more sorry for her as hostess than for Mrs. Raab, who was "shamming," in the opinion of the witness.

Robinson said that Mrs. Dow and other women there were concerned over Mrs. Raab's condition, and that he personally, was "buffaloed" by it.

On the other hand, Mrs. Robinson said she was not impressed that Mrs. Raab was a "plant."

Carl P. Dow, husband of Mrs. Kate Dow, asserted that there was no mention of the Preston case at the party.

Robinson, who mentioned the suspicion of a "plant" in connection with Mrs. Raab, is a salesman living at No. 109 Highland avenue, Somerville.

Robinson followed Mr. and Mrs. John A. McIntyre on the witness stand in Malden court before a gallery of spectators that jammed the room to the last inch.

"WORRIED" ABOUT HER.

A sharp cross-examination of Robinson included the following questions and answers:

Q.—And you claimed that her (Mrs. Raab's) condition was a problem to you? A.—Yes, we concluded that she was a "plant" in connection with the Preston murder after she had gone.

Q.—Were you worried about her condition after she had gone? A.—Yes, we talked it over.

This cross-examination was conducted by Attorney William H. Powers, Jr., of counsel for Mrs. Raab.

Robinson admitted that Mrs. Dow and the women guests were concerned over Mrs. Raab's condition. He said he, personally, was "buffaloed" by it. It was such a problem to them all that they were in a quandary.

ATTENDED LOUD TRIAL.

Robinson admitted that his wife and Mrs. MacIntyre had attended the trial of Clarence W. Loud for the murder of Patrolman James A. Preston of Wakefield, a charge of which Loud was acquitted.

Another admission by Robinson was that Mrs. Raab's hat and coat remained on her when she "flopped" in the "third fake faint."

Both the MacIntyres had testified that Mrs. Raab's coat and hat were off in this third faint and that a towel was placed over her to save her dress.

In concluding his direct examination by Attorney Burroughs, Mr. Robinson denied that any mention was made at the Dow party of the Preston murder.

Cross-examination by Attorney Powers:

Q.—Did you tell Mr. Shea, a Boston newspaper man, that Mrs. Raab had kicked a glass of water out of Mrs. Dow's hand, instead of knocking it out of her hand, as you testified today? A.—No.

SAYS SHE HAD COAT ON.

Q.—Didn't Mrs. Robinson say to a reporter that her husband had flicked water in Mrs. Raab's face? A.—No.

Q.—Did the water go on her dress? A.—She had her coat on at the time.

Mrs. Eunice G. Robinson, wife of the preceding witness, took the stand. She said her testimony would be about the same as her husband's and that she did not know what took place outside the Dow house the party night.

She first met the Dows and Loud at the MacIntyre drugstore in Somerville several months ago, she said. Then she was asked about the party:

DIDN'T ASSIST HER.

Q.—When you saw Mrs. Raab throw herself on the floor, did you go to her assistance? A.—No.

She said Mrs. Raab was first on the floor, but was on the couch when water was thrown on her.

Mrs. Robinson said she was not "positive" of what took place that night, and she had not figured on being called into the case later.

Q.—You were not impressed that this girl (Mrs. Raab) was a "plant"? A.—No. I didn't give it a thought. She did not impress me as being a "plant". There was nothing said about the Preston murder or any other murder that night.

Carl P. Dow, husband of Kate Dow, followed Mrs. Robinson. He said that he first met Mrs. Raab at Suntaug Inn last August. He recalled the date because it was the day before the 17th. Mrs. Dow's birthday. He was introduced to Mrs. Raab by mutual friends.

A week or ten days later he encountered her on a train. She was in one of the seats next to the aisle. As he was passing she "nudged" him and called him by name. She recalled to him that they had met at Suntaug.

MET HER ON TRAINS.

He met her possibly three or four more times on trains between then and August 21, the party night. She was at the Dow home about three times, as he recalled, prior to the party.

He was asked whether Mrs. Raab was invited to the party. He replied:

"She was not invited that I know of. She suggested over the telephone that she might 'drop up.' She did 'drop up' later."

Mrs. Raab telephoned the Dow house frequently, Dow said. He called her up two or three times prior to the party. He explained:

"She told me over the telephone that her aunt had some china and antiques, knowing I was interested in them. I wanted to go down and see the things."

Dow said she never telephoned him except about the china and old furniture.

He declared that, while he did not invite Mrs. Raab to the party, he did not tell her not to come when she mentioned she might be in.

"There was no mention made of the Preston case," Dow asserted.

"I saw no one lay hands on her. I did not see my wife throw anything at her. I did not see her kicked in the back."

Cross-examination of Dow by Attorney Powers:

Q.—Did you and Mrs. Raab and Mrs. Dow and Mr. Loud go to Nahant together and visit a shooting gallery? A.—No.

Q.—Was Loud a frequent visitor at your home? A.—He has not visited my home more than once in the last six months.

Q.—Wasn't his car seen frequently in front of your home? A.—It was not.

Q.—Did Mrs. Raab visit your home one evening with a Mr. Stone? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you telephone to her at various times? A.—I have telephoned to her.

Q.—Did Mrs. Raab's mother telephone to you one morning after her daughter had stayed at your home all night? A.—She never stayed all night.

Q.—Did Mrs. Raab's mother telephone to you? Yes. She asked me about the number of a camp in Lynnfield where she said her daughter was. I told her I did not know the number.

PREDICTS LABOR GOVERNMENT FOR BRITAIN

London, Nov. 17. (By the Associated Press).—Gratification is expressed by most of the newspapers at the result of the elections.

"We are rid," says the Westminster Gazette, "of the compromises and subterfuges which have made Parliament contemptible."

The Daily Herald, exulting over labor's successes, anticipates another election within eighteen months, and says: "If meantime we play our cards boldly and skilfully we ought to have a Labor Government with out doubt."

The Times regards the result with deep satisfaction and says it demolishes the last argument for maintenance of the Coalition.

For the first time a candidate standing as an avowed Communist was elected when J. W. Newbold was returned for the Motherwell division of Lanarkshire.

Another isolated new member is F. Herymegour, Prohibitionist, who, with the Laborite, E. D. Morel, defeated Winston Spencer Churchill and three other candidates in Dundee, a two-seat constituency.

Premier Law Now Has Majority of Over 80

London, Nov. 17.—Returns from all but ten of the 615 constituencies show the Conservatives elected to the new House of Commons number 346, or 38 more than a majority, which is 307, because the speaker and two others are non voting members. The Laborites are second with 141; Asquith Liberals number 57; Lloyd George Liberals 52, and all other parties, including one Communist and one Prohibitionist, total 16. Premier Law is therefore expected to have a working majority of 80 to 85 over all other parties when returning from the other ten divisions, all university seats, are received.

Lady Astor Ill After Strenuous Campaign

Plymouth, Eng., Nov. 17.—Viscountess Astor, re-elected to the House of Commons, is ill as a result of the strain of her campaign. She also is suffering from a cold.

STEALS COAT FROM CHILD IN STREET

The South End police are searching for the "meanest thief" who stole two-year-old Henry Height's hat and coat and left him in the street without protection against the cold.

The boy is the son of Mrs. Celia Height of No. 62 Emerald street, South End. According to the story she told the police, Henry came to her and said that a man had taken his coat and hat. He had wandered about the streets for some time before neighbors saw him without clothing to protect him from the cold winds and sent him home.

Mrs. Celia Height

The coat is black, with a black fur collar. The hat is also of black fur.

FORCES CLERK DOWN CELLAR, ROBS TILL

While John Kaignania, 16, was tending store at 852A Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, a man walked in, presented a revolver and demanded his money. He forced John to open the cash drawer, from which he took $20. He then made the youth open a trap door and descend into the cellar. John stayed in the cellar until he thought the bandit had gone and then made his way to the street floor and telephoned the police. The robber was dressed in a blue sweater and a gray cap.

MALONEY RECOVERS AFTER OPERATION

Lawrence, Nov. 17.—Congressman Robert S. Maloney is recovering at his home here from a serious operation and will be unable to attend the opening of the special session of Congress, Monday. The operation was performed at Barry Sanitarium in Methuen, from which Mr. Maloney was discharged Wednesday. He is under care of City Physician Peter L. McGillicut. This is the third time Mr. Maloney has been operated upon in sixteen months. He hopes to be able to leave for Washington the latter part of next week.

LYNN PASTOR FLAYS KU KLUX METHODS

In an address today before 1,800 members of St. Joseph's Church at Lynn, the Rev. Father William Gunnville flayed the methods of the Ku Klux Klan. "It is the duty of all Lynn Catholics," said Father Gunnville, "to join the Holy Name Society as a means of combatting the evil influence of this un-American organization. The Holy Name Society is 100 per cent. American."

Traps 19 'Mashers'

MISS GLORIA GOODWIN

Nineteen youthful Lotharios were taken into custody as "mashers" in one evening on downtown streets in Los Angeles as a result of the activities of Miss Gloria Goodwin. After a number of complaints had been made by young women, who said men had accosted them on the streets, Miss Goodwin volunteered to assist the police in wiping out the evil. So every night she strolls through the downtown district with a policewoman behind her. If a "masher" accosts her the policewoman makes the arrest.

CHINESE DEATH SUSPECT WAS "BROKE"

Fong Jow, one of the two Chinese on trial in Superior Court for the murder of Ung Shi Ging, desperately needed money at the time the crime was committed and planned to borrow it in Boston.

So testified Lott Jow, who worked with Fong in a Chinese restaurant in Providence.

Furthermore, said Lott, Fong borrowed his key to the rooms of the York Quin Educational Association, No 145 Harrison avenue where the writhing form of Ung better known as Donald B. Dunn was found with a twelve-inch knife blade in his skull.

Lee a Boston University student flashy and a spender, was reputed wealthy among his fellows and he was on friendly terms with the accused.

Lott told how Fong had come to him with a tale of needing money because his sweetheart had fallen and injured herself. He declared he needed a large amount at once. Then, Lott asserts, Fong borrowed his alarm clock in order to get an early train. The next day, witness said Fong told him of Ung's murder, saying he had read of it in the newspapers.

DR. JOHN W. PRATT DIES AT DEDHAM

FEARED HE WOULD BE KILLED

talked many times with Dr. Hall regarding that clergyman's relations with Mrs. Mills and his consequent troubles at home and his quotations from these confidential verbal exchanges form one of the most sensational chapters yet recorded in the double murder mystery that has been replete with sensations from its very inception.

PASTOR FEARED FOR LIFE.

Dr. Hamborsky said that Rector Hall told him that he and Mrs. Hall had had many quarrels "on account of Mrs. Mills." In fact, he was seriously contemplating giving up his pastorate and leaving New Brunswick. The rector then went on to reveal that his domestic troubles had driven him to the point where he was actually in fear of his life.

"She is a very cool woman," Dr. Hamborsky quoted Dr. Hall as saying—referring to Mrs. Hall. "She has changed very much lately and I am very much afraid she will do me some bodily harm."

In the same conversation the rector revealed, according to Dr. Hamborsky, that his life had been threatened by a man, a sympathizer of Mrs. Hall. He reiterated that he had decided to leave New Brunswick.

"I do not know what I will do," he went on to say, according to Dr. Hamborsky." All I know is that I have to get out. I am in constant fear, —— has threatened me and told me he will finish me if I do not give up Mrs. Mills."

PLANNED TO GET DIVORCE.

Dr. Hamborsky said that Rector Hall then disclosed that he was contemplating going either to Reno or to Europe and suing for divorce so that he could marry Mrs. Mills. The Hungarian clergyman advised him to give up the choir singer and stick to his post in New Brunswick, or if he could not adjust his affairs there to try to win Mrs. Hall's consent to accepting another pastorate.

"Forget Mrs. Mills," Dr. Hamborsky said he counselled his friend. To which Dr. Hall is said to have replied.

"I am not going to give up Mrs. Mills. I love her and I cannot give her up. I am going to get out of New Brunswick as soon as I come back from my Summer vacation."

Two or three days after the murder, Dr. Hamborsky said he consulted with an acquaintance regarding the advisability of revealing the substance of his conversations with Dr. Hall.

The friend advised him to keep his mouth shut unless he wished to get "mixed up" in the case.

After several weeks had gone by and the mystery still remained unsolved, however, Dr. Hamborsky decided to disclose what he had heard, and he consulted Julius James Kron, a private detective and a fellow-countryman in New York city.

Kron advised him to get in touch with the authorities and tell his story.

He communicated with Special Deputy Attorney General Wilbur A. Mott, in charge of the investigation, and was told that he would be called for information later. He has never received any notice to go over to Moth's office for examination, however, he said, and decided to make his story public, through International News Service.

"The Henry" referred to by the clergyman is a New Jersey man whose name has been mentioned frequently in the case but who has furnished an alibi of his movements on the night of the murder.

In February of this year, I had an appointment with the Reverend Hall to attend a meeting in Rahway, N. J., with him.

The Reverend Hall apologized to me for being late, and stated to me that he had had some trouble at home and could not come any sooner.

"It was on account of the woman (Mrs. Mills) I met you with, wasn't it?" I asked.

Rev. Hall answered: "What makes you think so?"

I said: "I have heard some rumors about you; that you were having some relations with some woman."

WIFE WAS JEALOUS.

Rev. Hall answered: "Yes, my wife is very jealous of Mrs. Mills. But what kind of rumors did you hear?"

I told him I heard some rumors and that ended the conversation a that particular time.

In April, 1922, I left my pastorate in New Brunswick and went to Hvr in New York city. In June I had occasion to come back to New Brunswick, however. I met Dr. Hall at the railroad station, and, on learning I was going back to Manhattan, he boarded the train with me. He informed me he was planning to leave New Brunswick himself. I was surprised. I asked him:

"Are you having any trouble on account of Mrs. Mills? Is that the reason you are leaving?"

His reply was: "Yes, I am leaving on account of Mrs. Mills. I am deeply in love with Mrs. Mills I am sorry to say. I cannot get over it. I am planning to do something—to go away."

WARNED BY "HENRY."

"What do you expect to do?" I asked him. "Do you intend to sever your relations with Mrs. Hall?"

Dr. Hall said: "I do not know what I shall do. All I know is that I have got to get out. I am in constant fear. Henry has threatened me and that he will finish me if I do not give up Mrs. Mills."

"He threatened you?" I prompted him, referring to "Henry."

"Yes," was his reply. "He said he would finish me if he caught me again with Mrs. Mills."

Couldn't Give Up Mrs. Mills, Hall Told Pastor

The Rev. Paul F. B. Hamborsky said Rector Hall told him he often quarreled with his wife over Mrs. Mills.

"I am not going to give up Mrs. Mills," Dr. Hall told him. "I love her and cannot give her up. I am going to get out of New Brunswick as soon as I come back from my Summer vacation.

"I do not care what happens to me. I have a little money and will invest it in some business."

Souvenir Hunters Take Away Liner, Piece by Piece

Souvenir hunters threaten to carry away the Majestic, the world's largest steamship.

To stop anyone lugging it away, Sir Bertram Hayes, the captain, announced today he would cancel many of the passes, recently issued to civilians.

Since the Majestic came into port the liner has begun to disintegrate. Souvenir hunters have carried away almost everything but the bar.

Soldiers and sailors, however, are allowed to visit the vessel in uniform.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF PASTOR IN 'A' CASE

Winthrop, Nov. 17.—The Rev. Joseph M. Walker, seventy-two, accused of being the father of eighteen year-old Evelyn Goodell's baby, today was notified that his resignat ot had been accepted by North Congre gational Church. At the same time Deacon William Goodell, father of the young choir singer, refused to resign, as demanded by Dr. F. E. Emery of the Home Mission Society of the Congregational Society of Massachusetts. Mr. Walker was acquitted, recently, of the charges in Adams District Court.

Know Tootsie's Love-Tutor?

BET a hat you'll guess it before we say, "Al Jolson!" Who else could it be; who else could take Tootsie a'tooting up and down Lovelane like Al, old boy? All the girls know Al!

A la Jolson, you call "Toot, Toot, Tootsie," for it's a peach from the garden of love! Al makes it quite sad for every one when he bids Tootsie a fond farewell—yes, to be exact, seven continuous and consecutive farewells. Then, with a breezy "Toot, Toot, Tootsie, Goo' Bye," he hops a choo-choo and hies himself hence.

On the other side of this record, there's old friend Frank Crumit awaiting a turn with "True Blue Sam"—the tale of the traveling man! Here's a scream, all right, for it tells how Sam blew into Honolulu. There he saw a South Sea Sadie shaking her shredded wheat. That settled it! What happened next—well, you want to hear it! What's the use of taking the kick out of the situation! Both songs on 10-inch Record A-3705, for 75c.

But these are just samples picked from the new Columbia program that's out to-day. They're all equally good. And they're all made by the new three-ply, laminated process—an exclusive Columbia feature which gives Columbia Records a playing surface of velvet-smoothness that does away with disconcerting surface sounds.

POLICE SEIZE $4,000 GOODS IN BEACH ST.

Dress goods, alleged to have been stolen from the American Express Company, and valued at approximately $4,000, were seized in a raid on the S. & S. Dress Company, Beach street, by Special Officer Nulty of Station 4 and several agents of the express company.

Herman Sussewvine and Louis Stratkovits, proprietors of the dress concern, and Samuel Gabelnick were arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property. Gabelnick has a place of business on Hayward place.

A driver in the employ of the express company, from whom the men arrested are said to have received the seized merchandise, is being sought by the police. A warrant has been issued for his arrest, on a charge of larceny.

As a result of the raid, the business of the dress company, which is manufacturing women's dresses, has been halted, because part of the seized cloth was in process of manufacture.

SCHOONER, FOREMAST GONE, CALLS FOR AID

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 17.—The schooner Doris, with a broken foremast, is in need of assistance twenty miles off Beaver Harbor, according to a wireless message received today. The Doris is believed to be from New London, Ct., although the Murillo's message said she was a London vessel. A steam trawler has been sent to her aid.

Smiles at Jurors Saved Hammer Girl's Life

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—Men members of the jury which found Mrs. Clara Phillips guilty of second degree murder for beating Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Meadows to death with a hammer were quoted today as admitting Mrs. Phillips' smiles saved her from the gallows. But for the smiles she probably would have been convicted of first degree murder.

Mrs. Phillips seemed to study the jurors one at a time and to flash frequent smiles at them.

"She has the most appealing smile I ever saw," one juror said.

KEEP STAY ORDER ON GRAIN ACT

Chicago, Nov. 17 (By the Associated Press)—Federal Judge Carpenter today dismissed the Chicago Board of Trade bill for an injunction restraining enforcement of the grain futures trading regulatory act but continued the stay order preventing enforcement of the law until its constitutionality had been passed upon by the United States Supreme Court.

Washington.—Charles M. Schwab told the Federal Trade Commission today in its hearing in the Pittsburgh base comaint that the practice of basing steel prices throughout the country on the market quotations prevailing at Pittsburgh was a matter of business convenience.

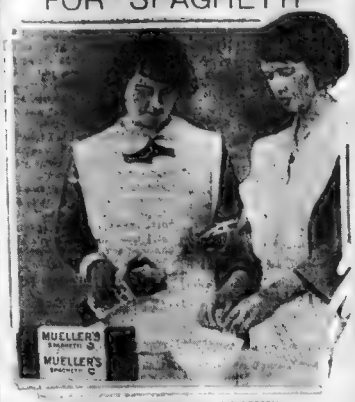
SEND YOUR RECIPE FOR SPAGHETTI



PUPILS TRYING OUT DISHES

Boston American spaghetti Recipes [illegible] favor with pupils of the exclusive Boston School of Cookery Gloucester street. Photo shows two of the pretty pupils trying out one of the delicious dishes of which spaghetti forms a principal ingredient. This paper offers a daily award for spaghetti recipes sent in by readers.

WIN SPAGHETTI BY SENDING IN YOUR RECIPE

Good morning!

Have you had your spaghetti yet? It's the simplest thing in the world to get—six big packages—for all you have to do is send in your favorite recipe of the most appetizing way in which to cook and serve spaghetti, and then watch for the names of the two winners published each day on the magazine page of the Boston American, together with the winning recipes.

Every housewife in New England is urged to send in their favorite spaghetti dishes.

Send your entry to the Recipe Editor, Boston American, Boston, Mass.

Remember these tempting dishes you make when at school? Send in your popular recipe of college days, and also enter your delicious spaghetti recipes of maturer years—they all have an equal chance.

Don't wait! Get your recipe in today, for the supply of spaghetti is limited.

Remember two pieces of six pack ribbon will be awarded every day until the supply is exhausted.

HARDING WRONG ON DRINK PULSE, SAYS WHEELER

Washington, Nov. 17 (By International News Service).—If President Harding has been writing letters to people saying that public sentiment is shifting around toward liberalization of the prohibition laws, he is all wrong, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, said today.

"Ohio voted against 2.75 beer by 125,000," said Wheeler. "The State Legislature of Ohio is drier than ever. California voted for an enforcement code.

"The next flank movement of the opposition is to ask for a scientific examination to determine what is an intoxicating liquor. With forty-two States prohibiting one half of one per cent liquor and with two States with a one per cent standard, Congress could not legalize even one half per cent beer in forty-six States in the Union.

"Public sentiment could not change for the better over the Eighteenth Amendment in the immediate future. The Republican party is committed to enforcement.

EX-AMBASSADOR W. G. SHARP DEAD

Lima, O., Nov. 17.—William Cresse Sharp, ex-ambassador to France, died at his home here today after an illness of several days. Mr. Sharp spent several months in Europe last summer in the interest of his health and, according to friends, has not been well since. He was stationed to France five years, serving during the World War. He resigned about a year after the armistice was signed.

WOMAN'S ACQUITTAL OF MURDER CHEERED

Beckley, W. Va., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Alice Anderson was found not guilty of the murder of her husband, John M. Anderson, former judge of Criminal Court of Raleigh County.

Cheers rang through the court room, where her husband once presided, when the jury announced its verdict after deliberating only thirty minutes.

Mrs. Anderson pleaded that she shot her husband in self-defense after her husband had cursed her and threatened her.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

Discontent.

That seems to be the keynote today. Yet, may not a lot of it be not discontent with what we have or do not have, but discontent with what we ourselves are or are not?

* * *

Is it not true that the faults of the world are simply the faults of you and me?

Is it not true that we get out of the world just about what we put into it?

Of course there is discontent and discontent. There is a worthy brand of discontent and an unworthy brand. There is a species of discontent that spurs human beings to greater effort and higher achievement. This divine discontent has created most of the progress made by civilization. But this kind of discontent usually had as its goal achievement, conquest, power or fame.

Most of the discontent raging today, however, is a discontent over possessions, not a spurring ambition to accomplish. It is discontent with what we have, not with what we have done—or have failed to do. It is discontent over what we own—not over what we owe to the world.

Now, just how badly off are we? Just how severe are the hardships we are suffering? Just how trying is life today in this country?

Everything in this world, it has been well said, is relative. We arrive at conclusions by making comparisons.

* * *

Everyone knows that living conditions in America are better than in any other land.

Measured by this standard, therefore, we Americans are exceptionally well off.

The only other comparison it is important to make is comparison with the conditions formerly existing in our own country. Applying this comparison, what do we find?

Do we have to work as hard as did our forefathers?

Do we have fewer comforts and luxuries than they had?

Do we have poorer food, poorer clothes, poorer homes?

Read this, from the General Motor Truck Company's "Sales Generator," under the caption, "Thirty Slaves. Every person has three servants, and probably more.

"Take away all our machinery and steam and electrical power, and it would require 3,000,000,000 hard-working slaves to duplicate the work done by Americans. The use of power machinery gives to every man, woman and child in our country the equivalent of thirty slaves. This is figured out in the latest bulletin of the Smithsonian Institute."

"Why envy the nobleman, back in ancient Egypt or Bagdad, with thirty slaves toiling for him? He had swift running slaves to bring him fish from the ocean and bird tongues from the mountains. Today, with a few dimes, you can get a tin can of shrimp brought from Japan, a package of dates from Syria, a bag of nuts from Brazil, sardines from Norway. Your slaves—machinery and power—bring them.

"Plenty of old settlers now living can recall the days before matches, when they ran a mile from the nearest neighbor with a shovelful of blazing coals."

"Our real estate wealth is measured, not in money, but in the number of things you obtain to eat and wear, the ease with which you get them, the comforts and conveniences of your home, methods of transportation and amusement. It is only a few centuries since even the richest kings had no sewers, running water, rapid transportation, or any of the commonplace things that brighten the lives of all today.

"A few years ago only the richest men in town had automobiles. Now, there's an automobile for every twelve Americans. Measured in ancient standards, we are all kings today, with the slaves of electricity, steam and machinery toiling constantly for us."

* * *

Suppose we try to cultivate a habit of whining less over what we have or do not have, and strive to develop within us a larger measure of that "divine discontent" which spurs us to greater exertion, greater energy, greater achievement beneficial alike to ourselves and to the world.

PRICES WORKED UP IN CHICAGO PIT

Wheat developed an upward tendency in Chicago, commission house buying of all grain being the chief factor. Basis for this buying was found in reports from Omaha that all offers of corn and oats to the West were accepted overnight at highest prices yet this season. The opening, which ranged from ¼c to ⅜c to ½c advance, with December 1.19 to 1.19¾, and May 1.16¾ to 1.16¾, was followed by moderate gains all around. Oats started a shade lower, then climbed with corn.

COTTON FUTURES AGAIN ADVANCED

New York cotton futures again advanced. Quotations were: December, 20.50, up 20; January, 25.50, up 20; March, 21.85; May, 24.06, and July, 24.49.

$4,000,000 "Standard Oil Melon" Is Given in Form of Extra Cash Dividend

PAYMENTS ARE RESUMED BY GEN. MOTORS

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor of the Boston American.

Though stocks have been subjected to violent readjustments after being pushed forward too rapidly, the trade straws all point in the right direction and business news all favors optimism.

Cash dividends, as well as stock bonuses, are being handed out on every side, particularly by the Standard Oil group.

Dividend resumption by the great General Motors Company, though qualified, is of especial cheer.

DIVIDENDS IN CASH.

Directors of the New York Transit Company, former Standard Oil subsidiary, have declared an extra cash dividend of $80 a share on the $5,000,000 stock outstanding from the $6,000,000 stock outstanding from the sale of its investment holdings.

The $80 dividend calls for a distribution of $4,000,000 in cash from the company's surplus account, which stood at $6,851,362 at the close of 1921.

Northern Pipe Line Company, another former Standard Oil subsidiary, was reported to have declared an extra cash dividend of $15 a share in addition to the regular semi-annual distribution of $5 a share.

Directors of General Motors Corporation announced resumption of dividend payments on common stock with the declaration of a disbursement of 50 cents a share, payable out of this year's earnings on December 22 to stockholders of record Nov 27. At the same time it was stated that earnings for 1922 after deducting charge for depreciation and Federal taxes, will approximate $25,000,000.

TO WATCH BUSINESS.

The proposed payment on the 20,550,599 shares of common stock outstanding is the first since a quarterly distribution was paid on November 1, 1921. On January, 1922, the board voted to pass the dividend because of the general business depression and a desire to "strengthen the position of the corporation." Of the remaining stock 7,000,000 shares are owned by the du Pont-American Industries, Inc., and 400,000 shares by the du Pont Nobel Company, so those two concerns as a result of the General Motors dividend will receive $13,700,000 out of the total distribution of $20,276,295.

The official statement of the company points out that, although the corporation has materially fortified its position and the outlook for 1923 was considered encouraging, it was decided to take no action at this time to the division of plus of the common stock on a regular quarterly dividend basis.

The directors are of the opinion that "however encouraging the outlook appears to be for the future, the consideration of the question of resuming regular dividends on the common stock would be deferred until the results of capital requirements of future operations can be satisfactorily ascertained."

7 P. C. STOCK OUT ON PHOENIX HOSIERY

Lehman Bros. & Goldman, Sachs & Co. offer $4,000,000 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of the Phoenix Hosiery Company at a price of $100 a share and accrued dividend.

New 7 per cent. preferred stock offered for public subscription is redeemable in whole or in part at $112 a share and accrued dividends. Provision is made that on or before January 1, 1924, and annually thereafter from out of surplus and net earnings, at least 3 per cent. of the largest amount in par value of the preferred stock shall have been at any time outstanding is to be acquired by the company by redemption or by purchase at not to exceed $115 a share and accrued dividends. Dividends will be payable quarterly on the preferred stock cumulative from December 1, 1922. Application will be made to list both the preferred and the common stocks on the New York stock Exchange.

The business was founded in 1899 with a capital of $75,000, as the Phoenix Knitting Works, which manufactured a general line of knitted goods, gloves, mittens, etc. With the exception of the original amount paid in, all of the present net worth has been accumulated out of earnings. It has grown from a small plant employing about 300 people in 1910 to the position where it now employs more than 4,000 operatives in the manufacture of a complete line of men's, women's and children's silk, imperfect and woolen hosiery.

The company is generally regarded as the largest single producer of trademarked silk hose in the United States.

Ohio Leather Co. is operating its Girard plant at capacity and one day this week established a new record.

EASTERN MASS. ISSUES ARE ACTIVE

Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway issues were again active and strong on the Boston Stock Exchange. The common lifted a point at 25, then receded on profit-taking. Adjustments gained 2 to 39, and certificates added a fraction at 28¾. Old Dominion and Waldham Watch made new 1922 lows. New Cornelia and Mohawk were off a point or more, but partially recovered.

United Fruit, after starting down a point, lifted 2 from the day's low at 152.

Point or better gains came in New Haven, Boston & Maine and Hood Rubber.

Amoskeag chipped off 2 points at 116.

There were fractional gains in Boston Elevated, Ahmeek, Calumet & Arizona, United Shoe and Swift & Co.

UTILITY BOND OUT TO YIELD 7 P. C.

Wilson, Hooker & Co., No. 50 Congress street, are offering a block of the new issue 7 per cent. Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, due 1952, of the General Gas & Electric Corporation, underwritten by Pynchon & Co., the well known New York bankers.

General Gas & Electric Corporation derives revenue from various subsidiary public utility enterprises, such as Metropolitan Edison, controlling the Pennsylvania Edison Company), Reading Transit & Light Company, Vermont Hydro-Electric Company, Shandaken Gas & Electric Company, and New Jersey Power & Light Company.

The latest earnings statement of General Gas & Electric Corporation reveals a balance of over $1,221,000 for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1922, before expenses, taxes and interest.

This balance is reckoned as over three times the interest on entire funded debt of the corporation. Price of the bonds is $97, and interest, to yield over 7 per cent.

In these days when bond yields are getting smaller a public utility issue to yield 7 per cent. or better appears noteworthy.

ONLY 6.85 P. C. IN U. S. TAXED ON INCOMES

Approximately 7,000,000 men and women of the United States are enjoying annual incomes in excess of $3,270 each, according to an official study of tax returns made by the Treasury Department.

This group comprises all persons paying income taxes to the Federal government. The income figures given above is an average of all net incomes reported. It includes those taxpayers in the millionaire class of whom, however, there are approximately fifty individuals.

The income tax paying group constitutes 6.85 per cent. of all the inhabitants of the United States. In legal theory it includes all unmarried persons receiving more than $1,000 a year and all married individuals earning $2,500 a year or more.

The conclusion that might be drawn from the Treasury Department analysis of the income tax returns is that either 93.15 per cent persons are living on incomes averaging less than $2,500 a year, since approximately that number make no returns of earnings. That theis is approximately true is probable for parts of the Department of Labor indicate that thousands of industrial workers with families are now earning approximately $1,000 a year.

There are about 24,000,000 family groups in the United States, the official census returns show. On this basis the head of one in each three families earns less than the average net income of federal tax payers, which means less than $3,000 a year. The average American family now includes four persons.

Earning ability of the average citizen shows wide differences between the States. In each of seven States more than 10 per cent. of the total population is included in the list of Federal income taxpayers. These States are California, in which 11.53 per cent of all inhabitants earn enough to be liable under the tax law; Connecticut, 10.73 per cent; Maryland, 10.21 per cent; Massachusetts, 10.42 per cent; New York, 10.09 per cent; Washington 10.91 per cent, and Nevada, 13.41 per cent.

How Many Native New Englanders Are Presidents of New York City Banks?

B. C. FORBES

WE KNOW OF FOUR. Wouldn't have suspected so many—but they are numerated and named by an authority on native New Englanders and New York banks. You can take B. C. Forbes' word for it. Here is the quartet—

CHARLES E. MITCHELL, National City Bank, native of Chelsea, Mass.

CHARLES H. SABIN, Guaranty Trust, native of Williamstown, Mass.

ALBERT H. WIGGIN, Chase National Bank, native of Medfield, Mass.

HARVEY D. GIBSON, New York Trust, native of North Conway, N. H.

This list goes to show how Yankee business-sagacity has spread. Its influence is felt over the whole face of the earth, with sturdy old Boston the real evolving center.

And this list goes to show how interesting is the news contained in FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE, appearing every business day in THE BOSTON AMERICAN.

The Forbes column is one of our many exclusive and persuasive financial-page features. It is one of many reasons so many money-wise men and women read this newspaper regularly —*one of many reasons the money-wise come to us with advertisements pertaining to matters financial and industrial. Stocks Show Renewed Broad Strength in New York Market After an Irregular Start

U. S. RUBBER AND PUMP OFF TO 1922 LOWS

Stocks displayed strength over a broad list on the New York Stock Exchange after an irregular start. The close was mixed with a fairly good tone.

U. S. Rubber and Worthington Pump sold at new lows for the year, the latter weak in line with the shippings, for which it provides marine machinery. Fisher Body was up to a new year's high.

U. S Steel showed firmness.

General Motors, following dividend resumption, acted strong, but then sagged, holding steady.

BEARS AGAIN BUSY.

While the list in general exhibited a fairly good tone during the morning, the volume of buying orders was considerably lessened when short selling was resumed in a large number of stocks.

Those offerings were mostly confined to ordinarily inactive shares, but some of the popular issues, notably Bethlehem B, Lackawanna Steel, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Mexican Petroleum and Pacific Oil, were pressed on the market with resultant losses of 1 to 3 points.

Fisher Body and Du Pont continued their early 4-point gains.

With the market in the early afternoon presenting numerous points of both strength and weakness, speculators were at a loss for a time as to which lead to follow.

Some of the low priced oils, rubbers, independent steels, and a large assortment of less active industrials were distinctly weak.

FEELING IMPROVES.

An equally vicorous opposite course was pursued by many of the recognized leaders, such as Baldwin, Studebaker, U. S. Steel, Corn Products, U. S. Alcohol, Famous Players and New Haven.

The ability of these stocks to move forward, despite the liquidation in other issues, eventually caused a better feeling to permeate speculative circles and the entire market again began to move upward on an increased volume of business.

Further improvement in the money situation was reflected in the marking down of time rates and in the decline of call money rates to 3½ per cent. after renewal at 4½ per cent., foreign cables and higher sterling exchange rates testified to general satisfaction in England over results of the election.

New York Transit in Big Advance on Curb

Announcement of the declaration of a cash dividend of $40 a share on the stock of the New York Transit Company, of the Standard Oil group, and of an extra dividend of $15 a share on Northern Pipe Line attracted fresh attention to the trading in the Standard Oil issues on the New York Curb market, and found a better response than had been made to recent declarations of stock dividends.

New York Transit, which closed Thursday at 178, advanced to 188 soon after the opening, and Northern Pipe Line from a range of four points to 120.

Denials by officials that Imperial Oil of Canada was arranging for closer relations with International Petroleum and for the absorption of Mutual Oil caused some selling of these two stocks, but they were fairly well maintained at close to Thursday's finals.

Many other Standard Oil issues, including Prairie Oil & Gas and Indiana Pipe Line, made moderate gains.

Standard Oil of Indiana was fairly active, gaining over a point in early trading, while Standard Oil of New York also showed a higher range.

BINGHAM'S PROFITS ARE RUNNING HIGH

Net profits of Bingham Mines up for the first ten months of the year including Eagle & Blue Bell, in which the company holds a 97 per cent. interest, are estimated at $251,139 before depletion and depreciation. This represents actual figures for first nine months and est mate of October profits. These profits are equivalent to an annual rate of $298,032, or $8.26 a share on Bingham's outstanding stock, after deducting the minority equity due outside stockholders of Eagle & Blue Bell.

SULTAN FLEES ON BRITISH WARSHIP

Constantinople, Nov. 17 (By the Associated Press).—An attempt by the Kemalists to run the interned Turkish destroyer Akhissar, disguised as a merchantman, out of the Golden Horn, past the Allied cordon, was frustrated last night.

Constantinople, Nov. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Mohammed VI., the Turkish Sultan, has fled from Constantinople on a British warship, bound for Malta.

Upon embarking, the Sultan emphasized that he was not abdicating, but merely removing himself from immediate danger.

The Sultan wrote to Lieutenant-General Harington, the British commander-in-chief, on Wednesday evening, stating he considered his life in danger and would like British protection.

Political motives may be read into the flight of the Sultan on a British warship. Great Britain has strong motives for seeing that no harm comes to the Caliph, in view of the many millions of Mussulman subjects within her domain, many of whom have given indications of disagreement with the action of the Turkish Nationalists, disputing the power of the Turks alone to take action affecting all Islam.

Turk Minister Warns of Delay in Peace

Angora, Nov. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Addressing the National Assembly on the allied postponement of the Lausanne peace conference to November 20, Reouf Bey, acting minister of foreign affairs, said: "We desire a speedy peace. I must reiterate that we will not accept the responsibility for any untoward incidents resulting from this adjournment of the conference."

HALF JERSEY INSANE ARE ALCOHOL VICTIMS

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 17.—Fifty per cent. of the patients now received at the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane are victims of alcohol according to Dr. H. A. Cotton, medical director of the institution.

Before prohibition, declares Dr. Cotton, 20 per cent. of alcoholics was the high mark among patients of the asylum. In the first months after the eighteenth amendment became effective the percentage dropped as low as 2, gradually increasing again until it has reached the present high rate.

EDUCATION PARLEY IN BOSTON DEC. 8-9

Washington, Nov. 17.—The second of a series of regional conferences under direction of the United States Bureau of Education, designed to acquaint the public school teaching corps with business methods and conditions, was announced today to be held in Boston December 8 and 9.

250 GAS TANKS ORDERED FROM BLOW-UP SCENE

More than 250 tanks of acetylene gas, stored without a permit and constituting a menace to lives and property, were discovered by a State inspector today in a basement of Hawthorne Brothers, Inc., on Commonwealth avenue, where the Prest-O-Lite explosion occurred on Saturday, injuring several people.

State Fire Marshal George C. Neal ordered the company to remove the tanks. He said the inspector's report shows the company was operating a garage permit, which allows the storage of not more than twenty-five tanks of acetylene gas. The inspector reported:

"I find a fireproof vault at the Beacon street end of their basement containing some 250 tanks charged with acetylene gas, without any special permit for such excessive storage. This vault is directly underneath the entrance to the Cleveland Motor Car Company's show rooms and simultaneous explosion of part or the whole of these tanks would cause great loss of life and damage to buildings in the vicinity."

DIES IN EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE TANK

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 17.—Sabatino Tomellini, a chauffeur, died today from burns sustained when filling the tank of his automobile. Driving with his brother Antonio he ran out of gasoline, and when he was pouring some from a can into the tank, his brother dropped the lantern which broke. The gasoline was ignited and the can exploded. Antonio is at the hospital in a serious condition.

BOY OF 4 SHOT IN ROW OVER MARBLES

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Andrew Ramona, four years old, has a bullet in his neck as a result of a quarrel with a playmate over a game of marbles. After one of them had shot him with a revolver, two of Andrew's chums stuck court plaster over the wound and took him home.

LABOR CHIEFS WAR ON OBJECTIONABLE LAWS

Washington, Nov. 17.—Leaders of national labor organizations will meet here tomorrow to draw up plans to battle against any attempt by Congress to enact anti labor legislation, it was disclosed following a visit by Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers and his assistant, H. E. Willis, to the White House.

Nothing Means Anything
Ku Klux Fascisti
Astors Win
Millionaire Maniac

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1922, by Star Company

THE WORLD IS MIXED up. Nobody knows what anything really means. We have an election here, with huge majorities, many surprising upsets. Those that sound wise say "it is a radical protest."

They vote in England, and the Tories win, putting out Lloyd George, who carried England through the whole war. And while putting Tories in power, England gives labor men the biggest vote in Parliament next to the Tory vote.

RUSSIA HAS A DICTATORSHIP of extreme radicalism, Italy a revolutionary dictator, Mussolini, representing middle class conservatism. All kinds of things are coming out of that

HAS IT OCCURRED TO YOU that our American Fascisti are the gentlemen of the Ku Klux Klan? This country has no conception of their power and growth. You will hear more of that. A Washington man, well informed, said yesterday: "I believe that 75 members of this new Congress are also members of the Ku Klux."

THE KU KLUX WEAKENED their power in advance by making a fight, unwisely, against Catholics and Jews. We, back here the great Socialist and Communist organizations that the Fascisti fought in Italy. A militant organization must fight something and the Ku Klux chose Jews and Catholics—very poor choice if the Klan wants to win.

Catholicism and Judaism have been tested through centuries and will be doing business as usual when the name Ku Klux will be seen only in dictionaries.

HOWEVER, THE "KLAN" is essentially conservative, in its way, opposed to radicalism in any shape. It may change its mind, as Napoleon changed his, when he asked the Pope to crown him Emperor of France.

Usually after war comes conservatism. War make men tired, and tired men do not like new ideas. Rest, mental and physical, is what they crave.

LADY ASTOR, FAIR young American-Britisher, is victorious, sent back to Parliament. The Honorable John Jacob Astor, her brother-in-law, is elected also. Father Astor left America angry, because he was beaten for office. The family has taken well abroad

LADY ASTOR'S OPPONENT, Dr. Bayly, helped to beat himself, curiously. He was the head of an organization formed to combat blood diseases, born of vice, that have made fearful headway in England before and since the war. Bishops, scientists, good citizens were in the organization. But they advocate supplying young men with knowledge and with "medicinal packets" that would enable them to avoid disease, without abandoning vice.

"SAVE OUR YOUNG people and England from disease" was Dr. Bayly's cry. To that Lady Astor replied: "Certainly, but do not advertise or distribute information and remedies that will encourage young men and women to be vicious, by taking away the danger." It was a sort of birth control argument in another form.

Women sided with and voted for Lady Astor against the doctor with his "packet" plan.

There are interesting points involved, including the problem of the virtuous wife whose life and health and children are endangered by a vicious husband.

A young wife, with a well known English name, lives in her own private lunatic asylum, with dozens of lunatic keepers

GLOUCESTER MAYOR HAS FIGHT IN THE STREET

Irish Execute 4 For Having Arms

CHILDERS TRIED FOR TREASON

Valera Aide Before Court-Martial Ready to Die, Says Wife, a Boston Girl

Dublin, Nov. 17.—Four soldiers in the Republican army have been secretly executed, after having been convicted of "possessing arms for the purpose of rebellion against the Irish Free State."

By International News Service.

Dublin, Nov. 17.—Erskine Childers, one of Eamon De Valera's chief aides in the Republican Irregular Army, who was captured by the Free State troops during a raid on a war council, was arraigned before a court-martial today, charged with treason. He faces a sentence of death.

Childers' wife, Mary Alden Childers, formerly of Boston, who is a confirmed invalid, issued a statement from her sick bed cheering her husband

Erskine Childers.

"My husband is proud to have served the republic. He is willing to give his life for the republic if necessary. He taught me that this is the right attitude and I stand behind him in all he has done."

Childers led the irregular soldiers who wrecked the cable stations on the west coast of Ireland.

CAUGHT WITH GUN.

The proclamation of Minister of Defense Mulcahy that anybody caught with arms is liable to the death penalty is operative against Childers because when he was caught he had an automatic revolver. Free State leaders have been heard to state that Childers, as "An English renegade" should get no consideration.

The government is fully aware that if Childers is executed there will be reprisals, and the utmost precautions are being taken, all government offices being fortified.

The condition of Mary MacSwiney, who is hunger-striking in Mountjoy prison, is unchanged today.

Mrs. Childers was formerly Mary Alden Osgood, daughter of the Late Dr. Hamilton Osgood of Marlboro street, Boston. Mrs. Childers is an invalid, but this has not hampered her in her work. Even when confined to bed, she remained active in helping her husband secure valuable information. She participated in the famous gun-running affair at Howth.

Miss MacSwiney on 13th Day of Fast

Dublin, Nov. 17 (By International News Service).—Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, who was arrested on Nov. 4, when Free State troops raised a Republican war council entered the thirteenth day of her hunger strike today. Doctors at Mountjoy jail said her condition was satisfactory.

To Seek Injunction Against Ganna Walska Singing

New York, Nov. 17.—Luella Melius, soprano, here from Chicago with her attorney, George I. Schein, said today

"Ganna Walska won't sing from an American stage under the management of Jules Daiber. An injunction will greet her in every city."

It is all because the Polish beauty, plus the McCormick millions, annexed Miss Melius' manager, Jules Daiber

Miss Melius explained: "He agreed to manage my tours for five years. I am going to do my utmost to prevent managers from exploiting artists who place confidence in them."

STATE RESTS IN PONZI CASE

The State rested its case against Charles Ponzi, "financial wizard," today

The defendant recalled witnesses for cross-examination. Among them were Robert de Mosella, one-time manager of the School street office where some $12,000,000 or more was passed over the counters, and Joseph Daniels, who loaned the "wizard" enough to start his gigantic scheme and who later sued Ponzi for $1,000,000.

401ST VETS TO HOLD BEAUTY CONTEST

Next Monday evening, November 20, at the New State Ball Room, Astor street, the members of the 401st Veterans' Association of the Boston district will hold their first dance. This organization is composed wholly of telephone men.

In connection with the dance, a beauty contest will be conducted, open to all feminine employes of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. Rivalry between the various departments is keen and the judges have a delicate task before them. The latter are to be Louis Fabyan Bachrach, John H. Dunn, and Lieutenant Commander William H. Doyle.

The prize will be a silver cup, suitably engraved, and the winner will be the guest of the Association at its annual reunion in June.

MAYNARD GIRL APHASIA VICTIM IN WINCHESTER

Her mind a blank as a result of a recent illness, which also took away her power of speech, twenty-three year-old Esther Laine, of Maynard, accidentally boarded the wrong train at the North Station, and was taken to the Winchester Hospital when the conductor discovered her condition.

At the hospital the girl became a veritable mystery woman. A Boston American reporter succeeded in learning her first name was "Esther."

The girl had been taken to Boston from her home at No. 23 Bummer street, Maynard, to see a specialist, Dr. Frederic A. Marsden of No. 295 Marlboro street. On her way back to Maynard she became separated from her escort, Victor Lehto, a cousin, at the North Station

Dr. Marsden read in the newspapers of the arrival at Winchester of a "mystery girl." Noting her description, he investigated and succeeded in establishing her identity.

Miss Laine was ill last Spring, it is said, and emerged from her illness without the power of speech, and subject to peculiar mental lapses.

ENGLISH WAR BRIDE MISSING IN LYNN

Mrs. Gertrude Arrons, English war bride, twenty-one, is missing from her home, No. 37 Ireson street, Lynn, and her husband, Hyman, fears that something has happened to her.

Mrs. Arrons, who originally came from London, is an attractive brunette with coal black hair and dark eyes. She is about 5 feet 5 inches in height.

FULLER TO WELCOME 'TIGER'

Parade and Reception When Former Premier Clemenceau Reaches Boston

M. Clemenceau, former Premier of France, will be the guest of Francis L. Higginson, Jr., during his stay in Boston.

He is expected to arrive next Thursday from New York. Upon his arrival here at the South Station at 2:30 p. m. he will be welcomed by Acting Governor Alvan T. Fuller. The committee meeting Clemenceau will consist of the following men

Mr. Higginson, chairman of the reception committee, General Edwards, Rear Admiral McCully, Rear Admiral Wiley, J. C. J. Flammand, French consul; John G. Coolidge, former secretary to the United States embassy at Paris; Ellis Dresel, former high commissioner to Germany; Collector Lufkin and Charles A. Morss, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank; Frederic S. Snyder, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, President Murlin of Boston University, President Cousens of Tufts and Frank G. Allen, president of the Senate

There will be a parade, followed by a reception in the State House by Governor Cox. There will be a military and naval guard and several military units will take part in the parade. From the steps of the Public Library the Frenchman will be greeted by 2,000 school children, who will sing their welcome to Clemenceau

On Friday the Tiger of France will speak in Tremont Temple, under the auspices of the committee of welcome, consisting of upwards of five representative men and women

M. Clemenceau is expected to leave Boston for Chicago on Saturday, November 25.

WINTHROP MAN AND GIRL CLERK ELOPE

The elopement and marriage in Philadelphia of Ruth Ramsey, attractive clerk in the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and Neil Olsen, Winthrop World War veteran, has been revealed with the receipt of a message by the girl's mother.

Mrs. Neal Olsen.

The communication reads "Dear Ma: Neal and I were married in Philadelphia Monday We all are happy."

Behind the message is a story of parental disapproval of the marriage, fostered by the belief that both were too young to undertake marital responsibilities

The couple were schoolmates in Winthrop. During the war, while Olsen served with the navy the two maintained a mail courtship

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ramsey of Lincoln street, Winthrop. Olsen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Al Olsen of Hermon street, Winthrop. Both are about twenty years old

FILM FOLK HERE FOR THE MOVIE BALL TONIGHT

Doraldina, "Sunshine" Mary Anderson, Virginia Lee, Eugenia Gilbert, Walter Miller, Joseph Sirker and other screen actors arrived from New York today as advance guard of the film folks who will be present at the annual Movie Ball in Boston Arena this evening.

Anita Stewart, Marguerite Courtot and others who have been announced for the festivity were scheduled for later arrival.

The actors made headquarters at the Copley Plaza Hotel. Several of them arranged shopping trips in the afternoon or went on motor rides about the city and environs.

The ball tonight will be under personal direction of William R. Carr. There will be dancing from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m. with music by an eight piece orchestra.

At 10 o'clock the film actors will be presented to the ball guests. With Mr. Carr as master of ceremonies each film figure will be escorted to a raised platform and introduced to the guests with suitable remarks.

WRESTLER'S STRANGLE HOLD ON AUTOMOBILE

Lawson M. Pinkham of No. 6 Morey street, Attleboro, a professional wrestler, was in the Dedham Court today on a charge of larceny of a $1,600 automobile from Otis Jacobson of Bean street, Norwood, also a professional wrestler Pinkham pleaded not guilty, and the case was continued to December 1. The car was one bought by Jacobson from Pinkham. On August 3, according to the complaint Pinkham removed the car from Jacobson's garage, and has since refused to return it.

LYNN POLICE SEARCH FOR MISSING GIRL

Boston and Lynn police are searching for Annabelle, fifteen year-old daughter of Robert Johnson of No. 16 Harwood street, Saugus, who has been missing from her home since November 6. The girl had bobbed blonde hair, and when she left home wore a green sport coat, red hat, blue skirt, tan shoes and black stockings. She is about five feet in height and weighs around 135 pounds.

GASTON'S NET GAIN REACHES 1,187 VOTES

Additional senatorial recount figures today show that Colonel William A. Gaston has thus far made a net gain of 1,187 votes.

This is the result of re-tallying the votes cast in 256 out of 325 cities and towns. In these cities and towns Gaston gained 1,946 and lost 347, while Lodge gained 1,250 and lost 1,138.

From returns from the entire State, save Lodge a plurality of 8,428. Gaston's net gain to date cuts that plurality to 7,238.

It developed there was a gain of 552 for Gaston and 338 for Lodge in Pittsfield, principally because the vote of one entire precinct in Ward 7 of that city was omitted from the complete vote of the city, as given out when the count was finished on the morning of the election.

An election night error whereby Gaston was credited with 100 fewer votes in Stoneham than the official figures was a figure in the net gain of 99 for Gaston shown in the Stoneham recount.

A freak incident of the recount occurred at Hoekonk, where a net gain of 137 for Senator Lodge was recorded. It developed that on election night the vote of one precinct was announced as that of the entire town.

TO PROBE LYNN MAN'S DEATH FROM POISON

District Attorney E. Howard Donnelly of Essex County today ordered an inquest to decide whether the death of Jacob Feller, forty year-old Lynn shoe worker, was caused by criminal negligence. The inquest will be held November 23. Feller died from a dose of barium sulphide which was procured from a drug store in Lynn, according to the medical examiner. He had been ordered by the Boston Dispensary to take a solution of barium sulphate. The police have found the typewritten order for barium sulphate, which they say was given to the drug store clerk.

FISTS FLY AS CITIZEN BERATES CRITIC

Both Men Battered; Driver of Truck Joins In; Wheeler Suffers Split Lip

Gloucester, Nov. 17.—Mayor Percy W. Wheeler is again in the limelight. Today he was engaged in a fist fight on the main street of Gloucester and came out of it with a bruised cheek bone and a split lip.

His opponent, Alex Chisholm, whom Wheeler ridiculed at a recent meeting where the subject of education was being discussed, was badly beaten by the Mayor. A man giving the name of Alfred Adams, No. 6 Woodville street, Roxbury, sustaining a badly smashed face and the loss of several teeth

Mayor Wheeler a few months ago accused the fish dealers of painting their fish red and selling it for salmon. At a meeting of the Leonard Club composed of firemen, a few days ago the Mayor is reported to have said that John Chisholm, a deceased vessel owner, had without an education amassed a fortune, and that his son had squandered it.

MANY BLOWS LANDED.

Today Chisholm approached the Mayor at Main and Elm streets and asked if the report he had heard was true. The Mayor admitted it. Chisholm is said to have landed heavily on the face of the Mayor. The Mayor, staggering under the blow, lost his hat, and tottered when Chisholm is again alleged to have handed it to him.

Mayor Wheeler retaliated by a swing from the ground which he landed flush on Chisholm's mouth, knocking out several teeth. Then he cried out that he was an old man and for Chisholm not to hit him again

A man driving a truck for a Boston fish pier firm came along, saw the two battling. He stopped his machine. Approaching the fighting pair, he demanded that Chisholm "stop hitting the old man." Then he proceeded to beat Chisholm unmercifully. This aroused the spectators to activity and the driver retreated to his truck.

MAYOR SEEKS WARRANT.

He was picked up in a restaurant later, and admitted to the police that he had beat Chisholm, but was allowed to go.

A warrant will be asked by the Mayor against Chisholm.

TAILOR HURT WHEN TRUCK RAMS STORE

A five-ton truck, driven by Joseph O'Daigle of No. 170 Hampshire street, Lawrence, wrecked the front of a tailor shop at No. 323 Main street, Charlestown, today, and injured the proprietor, Israel Freeman. The accident occurred when the steering knuckle broke and the truck went wild. Freeman was sitting by the window of his shop and was thrown to the floor.

FREE 2 ACCUSED OF MURDER BY DOGS

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 17.—Louis Ballardt and Mrs. Mabel Ross, ranchers, charged with murdering Ibzo Ilzo, a neighbor, by setting a pack of dogs on him, were found not guilty in Superior Court here. Mrs. Ross said the dogs, which belonged to her, had attacked Ilzo while he was quarreling with her. The dogs were slain by county authorities after Ilzo's mutilated body was found.

A. A. U. WANTS TO GOVERN WOMEN

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 17.—Women's and girls' athletics in this country should be handled by women and not by the Amateur Athletic Union, the governing body of amateur athletics in this country, in the opinion of Dr. William Burdick of the Playground Athletic League of Baltimore.

W. C. Prout

Dr. Burdick was asked by W. C. Prout, president of the A. A. U., to consider the question of the A. A. U. taking over athletics of the women and girls of the country.

BOOK FOUR GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY GAMES

Four important field hockey games are scheduled for tomorrow and Sunday. Tomorrow, on the Rad-cliffe College Field, the Motley Field Club will take on the All-Worcester Club.

That means a postponement of the league game between the Motley Club and Free Booters, until Sunday afternoon, at the Chestnut Hill Country Club Grounds. The Simmons Alumnae and the Debutantes are booked to play at the Simmons College Field tomorrow.

In Division A of the Boston Association, the final game will be played on Victory Field, Watertown, Saturday between the Arlington and Yekoch Clubs.

EAGLE PREPARES FOR STIFF GRID BATTLE

Last Saturday Baylor came to Boston, heralded as one of the strongest teams in the Southwest. The Bears, with a bag of deceptive plays were expected to run the Eagle ragged at the Wirwam. Yet, the Texans were overwhelmingly defeated and failed to impress the Boston fans.

Tomorrow another eleven will battle Boston College at Braves Field. Unlike Baylor, Canisius has not occupied a niche in the hall of football fame. It has enjoyed none of the popularity of a first-class team, and yet, all indications point to one of the stiffest games the Eagle has on its schedule.

In the popular mind, sheets of publicity are intimately linked with a good team. Since Canisius has not occupied a great deal of newspaper space, the game tomorrow has been looked on as being nothing more than a workout for the Eagle squad.

If Boston College fo[illegible] have[illegible] any delusions about the Canisius team, Coach Cavanaugh has none whatever. Practice this week at Alumni Field was of a kind that usually precedes only the season's major grid battles. Every afternoon the Eagle squad worked until after dark perfecting old plays and developing new formations. Urban is familiar with Cavanaugh's style of play, and has drilled his team particularly against plays he feels the Eagle team will employ.

Boston College Will Use Full Fighting Strength

The Boston College team will enter the contest tomorrow with its full fighting strength. The line will be the same that played against Baylor, while a shift is likely to be made in the backfield. O'Connell and Comerford will play the ends. Both are in fine condition for the game, and will take good care of the wings.

The two tackle positions will be held by Kosiowski and Paten. It was due principally to the work of these two men that Baylor made such a poor showing last Saturday. The Baylor plays depended greatly on the ability of the line to hold while the backs passed the ball around sufficiently to deceive he opponents.

Paten and Kosiowski smashed into the backfield as soon as the ball was snapped back, and unfortunately for Baylor, the man with the ball was tackled before he knew he had it.

Heaphy Prepared to Entertain His Rival

Heaphy is all prepared to entertain McCormick, his much-touted rival, at centre. There will be a battle, no doubt, between Jack and his opponent, but there is little fear that Heaphy will be outplayed.

Coach Cavanaugh has shifted the backfield in practice this week, and it is probable that he will start Donnellan at quarter. Donnellan is a capable leader, and the way he directed the sixty-yard march of the B. C. team against Baylor in the last quarter of the game aroused much favorable comment.

Darling has been playing fullback part of the time, and has also taken his place at halfback. "Chuck" can play any backfield position well, and Cavanaugh may try out his new arrangement of the backfield against Canisius.

Ward and Cronin to Start as Halfbacks

Ward and Cronin will probably start at the halfback posts. If Darling plays half, then Ward will most likely play fullback. The probable arrangement of the backfield, judging from practice formations, will be Donnellan, quarterback; Ward and Cronin, halfbacks; and Darling, fullback.

Walter Matthews will probably play part of the game at fullback. He played a brilliant game at that position when he relieved Wilson, and displayed great power in plunging through the line. Wilson and Corcoran may also get a chance at fullback.

Luke Urban will arrive with his squad of twenty players sometime tonight. He sent a telegram to the president of the Junior class and said that he and his men will attend the reception in his honor which will be held at the Assembly Hall, Boston College, tomorrow night.

KEADY TO COACH VERMONT FIVE

More than eighty candidates reported to the call of Coach Tom Keady for the University of Vermont basketball team. Keady, who will assume the position temporarily, expresses great hopes of securing a banner five at Vermont this Fall. This was the largest squad ever to turn out at the first call. There is a prospect of a greater number reporting in a couple of weeks, after the ball season comes to a close.

Tom Keady.

Although the Vermont five have not arranged a schedule, they will meet Holy Cross and Dartmouth. Last season the Vermonters won a win over the Worcester boys, who were Eastern champions, while the Dartmouth five is a new comer on the official books.

CONNIE LYNCH IS AT BALTIMORE

Local soccer fans who have followed the kicking game in New England for the past few years will be surprised to learn that Connie Lynch, for many years identified with soccer in Fall River both as a player and a manager, recently packed his little old carpet bag and sought pastures new, finally ending up in Baltimore, where he is now leading a fast aggregation against all comers.

Connie Lynch.

Lynch played for the Fall River Rovers several seasons and the backs who ever had occasion to play against him were soon injected with a wholesome respect for this burly centre, who was more forceful than clever.

JOE QUINN HAS MADE GOOD

By ART CURLY.

The Fore River Soccer Club boasts a fine player when they let Joe Quinn get out of their grasp. Joe turned up in Quincy late last Summer and played several five-a-side matches for the shipbuilders, in which he showed plenty of class, but for some reason or other he signed up for the Abbot Worsteds.

Joe Quinn

Since joining the classy Forge Village aggregation Quinn has made good in more than one and is filling Billy McMahon's shoes to perfection. With Freddy Parker for an inside man, Jack Kershaw has a left wing that will make any team in the country hustle.

WHO'S WHO IN MIDDLEWEIGHT CLASS

BOGASH AND DOWNEY RATED IN "FIRST FIVE"

By JACK CONWAY

New England is telling us who are the five leading middleweights As we remarked before, Matchmaker Tom Goodwin started something when he signed Lou Bogash and Bryan Downey, two of the world-leading middleweights, to battle in a ten-round bout at the Arena A. C.'s show at the Boston Arena next Monday night.

It is interesting to note that virtually all of the fans include Bogash and Downey in the "first five." All of which supports Goodwin's contention that Monday night's quarrel is a near-title affair.

Johnny Wilson, boss of the mid dleweight division, is treated rather roughly by some of the fans who have him off their slate. Others fail to place him in first place. A few give the champion due consideration.

Here's the evidence, as they say in legal circles:

L. Shev, No. 14 Ferndale street, Dorchester: Bryan Downey, Lou Bogash, Johnny Wilson, Pal Reg., Dave Rosenberg.

Manuel Terceiro, No. 143 William street Fall River: Jack Malone, Jeff Smith, Johnny Wilson, Bryan Downey, Lou Bogash.

Jack Shannon, No. 58 Howard street: Jock Malone, Bryan Downey, Lou Bogash, Mike O'Dowd, Ted Lewis.

Myer Salow, No. 204 Townsend street, Roxbury: Bryan Downey, Lou Bogash, George Robinson, Augie Ratner, Nate Siegal.

Pa Moran, Galvin's Florist Store: Johnny Wilson, Jock Malone, Lou Bogash, Augie Ratner, Bryan Downey.

Peter Turco, No. 396 East street, Walpole: Tommy Loughran, Jock Malone, George Robinson, Louis Bogash, Bryan Downey.

Isadore Berman, No. 463 Norfolk street, Mattapan: Jock Malone, Bryan Downey, Johnny Wilson, Happy Littletown, Louis Bogash.

Tom Goodwin, Arena A. C.: Johnny Wilson, Jock Malone, Louis Bogash, Augie Ratner, Bryan Downey.

Happy, king of the newsboys: "There ain't five leading middleweights."

What is your list? Write your selection and send it to this writer We shall be glad to publish it.

The Downey-Bogash bout at the Arena Monday night will help throw some new light on this situation. Downey claims to have knocked out Johnny Wilson at Columbus, Ohio. He charges that Referee Jimmy Gardner saved the day for dawn of Charlestown. When Downey battled Nate Siegal at the Arena recently, he proved he is one of the heaviest punchers the middleweight division has ever boasted of. He cracked two of Nate's ribs with a right hand thrust in the third frame.

Bogash, not Siegal, will be the young man in the other corner Monday night. This may upset some of the Downey plans.

Bogash is one of the world's greatest middleweights. He is one of the few men who have been able to defeat Mickey Walker, welterweight champion. You won't have to feel sorry for Lou at the Arena.

The speculative element has already made Bogash a slight favorite What will be the odds at ring time?

Possibly the loser Monday night will be knocked clean out of the list of the "First Five." Time will give the answer.

Mickey Walker may be signed to meet the winner.

The welterweight boss is tired of stage life. "I want to fight," says the Bulger entry. "And, of course, I would like to show right here in Boston."

He will receive his opportunity if suitable arrangements can be made.

* * *

It is pleasing to have a champion who will fight.

Nobody is barred, either.

Green Meets Crimson

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 17.—Dartmouth soccer team left today for Cambridge, where it meets the Crimson aggregation at Soldiers Field, Saturday. The Green has defeated Harvard for the past two years. The men who made the trip are Captain Fletcher, Weeks, Steele, Meyer, Nesbit, Carvell, Martin, Bastow, Ahlquist, Dewing, Veit, Jones, Reese and Manager Sargent.

YALE LOSES WIGHT BY SPRAINED ANKLE

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 17.—Ted Wight, one of Yale's ruggest backfield star punters, is confined to the Yale infirmary with a sprained ankle which will prevent his playing in the Yale-Princeton game on Saturday. Wight's loss will be as keenly felt as he was regarded as a source of strength in the El back field. It is probable that Houle will take Wight's place.

Adrians Want Game

The Adrian team of Roxbury wants a game for Sunday away from home with any semi-pro team in the state. The manager has secured Jack O'Brien, a former Boston University player as coach for the season.

VILLA DEFEATS ABE GOLDSTEIN

New York, Nov. 17.—Pancho Villa, Filipino bantam American featherweight champion, went out of his class and decisively defeated Abe Goldstein, New York featherweight, in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. Villa was the aggressor throughout the first three rounds. He jabbed at Goldstein steadily and landed several hard lefts to the body. Several stinging lefts to Goldstein's head drew blood from his opponent's nose and both

YALE IS CHOICE IN GAME WITH PRINCETON

BLUE, HOWEVER, MUST CONSERVE POWER

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Will an epigram carry Princeton to the championship of the "Big Three" series?

At the start of the season Bill Roper, coach of Princeton, took a look at the Tiger football material, which was composed for the most part of the unimpressive substitutes of last year, and promptly realized his need of something besides that material to accomplish anything worth while in college football.

So he invented an epigram.

Bill's epigram was this:

"A football team that won't be beat, can't be beat."

Provided with that epigram, Princeton's very ordinary material, which has continued very ordinary in playing ability, has found itself on the winning end in every game it has played. The Tigers should have been beaten by Virginia, Colgate, Chicago and Harvard, but they weren't. Virginia, Colgate, Chicago and Harvard had it all over Princeton in material, and in the several departments of play showed a decided edge, but in each instance Princeton won.

We don't know so much about the Virginia team, but if Colgate, Chicago and Harvard were to play Princeton again we would wager eight limousines against a lame perambulator that Princeton would meet defeat in exactly all three games.

But the One Team It Does Play Is Yale

But Princeton does not play those teams again this season. The one team it does play, and that tomorrow, is Yale, and Yale has not yet faced Bill Roper's epigram.

We like Yale in that game

There is no gainsaying Yale material has it all over the Tigers. As we have stated before, the third string material at New Haven, if transferred to Princeton, would move the majority of Tiger regulars to the substitute team. And the Yale team has had the valuable seasoning that comes from tough battles. And while the Elis have not proved as impressive as they should have proved, there has been something very positive about their play.

Fewer earned points have been scored against Yale than have been scored against the majority of big college elevens, and, with an exception or two, all the Eli counters have come because Yale earned them by hard plugging or brilliant play.

Influence in Picking Yale to win Tomorrow

But there is another factor.

We wonder if that Roper epigram will function in the Yale game. It has functioned for seven weeks, but in functioning has it not defeated its purpose? In other words, have not the epigram-induced victories caused the Tiger players to conclude they themselves are much superior to their opponents? That would be a very natural human tendency, and if it exists in the Tiger squad the Roper epigram and its influence will not count.

Tiger followers freely admitted both Virginia and Colgate deserved victories; Tiger players have declared that if, when a six-inch gain was needed to give Chicago victory, the Stagg outfit had employed any other play than the one it did employ, Chicago would have won; but there were no such admission after the Harvard game, when slightly different happenings on but one or two plays would have changed the score.

Think They are Good and That May Ruin Them

The conclusion is that the Tigers now think they are good, and such a thought is apt to ruin their chances against the Elis.

Having seen both teams in play we believe Yale possesses an advantage at the wing positions, the guard positions, the center position and in all the backfield positions, and that it has substitute material so vastly superior to that which the Tiger boasts that there really is no comparison.

In playing its final game Princeton will have an advantage, for it can play itself out without cost and can employ all the trick and special plays it chooses to, whereas Yale, with the Harvard contest coming next week must conserve both its physical and tactical strength.

But Yale is the pick and we will be much surprised at a Tiger victory.

Favor Brown but Expect Havard to Play as Inspired

The Stadium game between Harvard and Brown is a difficult one to forecast. We slightly favor Brown's chances, but expect Harvard, as the result of its recent defeat, to play an inspired game.

That Brown is an excellent defensive array has been established, but Brown, like Dartmouth, Syracuse and several other defensively powerful elevens has yet to show an attack that can score against sturdy opposition.

That attack may come tomorrow and if so Brown should win, but Harvard will have its best offensive back, Churchill, in its lineup and its best triple-threat back, Roscoe Fitts, may play much of the game, and we feel sure Harvard will not hesitate to employ its special Yale formations if defeat threatens. Consequently the outcome would appear very much a toss-up.

At the Polo Grounds we expect Dartmouth to be forced a merry pace by the Columbia eleven, and should Columbia by any chance obtain an early lead Dartmouth will have its hands full in beating back the O'Neil team.

Columbia is Long Overdue for Good Game

An outfit with two such excellent backs as Koppish and Roderick is bound to get in a good game sooner or later, and Columbia is long overdue. However, the Green is the favorite and should win tomorrow if it is to win again this season.

At Braves Field Boston College looks for quite a battle from Lake Urban's Canisius team, which lost only 6 to 0 to Fordham and has been running up rather large scores on other opponents, but Cavanaugh's eleven seemed to have struck its real stride last week, and if it continues that pace tomorrow it should come forth victorious.

The Massachusetts Aggies are the pick over Tufts in the game at Medford, but Casey's team, which has suffered from injuries more than has any small college eleven in this section, should force the Farmers to their best and a Tufts victory would be forthcoming should a lucky break or two come Casey's way.

Boston University Should Win at Durham

B. U. should run up a string of two victories in a row when it faces New Hampshire at Durham. Coach Whelan's outfit, although having won its first game last week, has earned wholesome respect from every foe it has met, and if it continues the same brand of sturdy play should annex the Durham battle tomorrow.

There are four very tough contests for the devotees on tomorrow's program in addition to those already listed. The former are the Penn State-Pennsylvania, the Pittsburgh-Washington and Jefferson, the Colgate-Syracuse and the Georgetown-Bucknell conflicts.

We like Penn State in the first named, for the changes in its lineup made since the Navy game seem to have added much strength, while Pennsylvania, on the other hand, lost its regular centre and one backfield when through injuries in the Pittsburgh game last week.

Pittsburgh is our selection in the Washington and Jefferson game. We are riding with Old Man upset in this battle as the W. & J. array undoubtedly will rule the favorite. Such an outcome, together with a Yale victory over Princeton, will remove two championship claimants from the already very small list.

TIGER SHUTS BIG BILL OUT OF PRACTICE

Princeton, Nov. 17.—The strictest kind of secret practice was the order for the Princeton squad. Even "Big Bill" Edwards was excluded from witnessing the inside plays which Coach Bill Roper imparted to his prize charges, who will make the final stand of the season against Yale.

The order was scrimmage for most of the squad. Several of those who played the entire Harvard game, spent the day on fundamentals and drills in the plays which will be used against the Elis. For a half hour the varsity battled with the scrubs and tryed out the entire repertoire of plays and then practiced on the defensive.

The team which took the field first for this stiff workout included Stout and Tillson, ends; Baker and Treat, tackles; Dickenson and Baker, guards; Griffin, center; Wingate, quarterback; Heattie, Bergen and Van Gerbig, backs.

Barry was also sent in as quarter while in the course of the period most of the squad with the exception of Cloves, Caldwell, Crum, Gray, German, Dinsmore, and Smith were used.

FAVOR TECH IN NEW ENGLANDS SATURDAY

The New England Intercollegiate Cross Country championships will be held at Franklin Park Saturday morning. There are teams from fifteen different colleges including Brown, Bowdoin, Maine, Tufts, Williams, M. A. C., Boston College, N. H. State, Bates and Boston University. Tech, the favorite, has defeated Cornell, Harvard and Dartmouth, and was barely defeated by Princeton. The Engineers should win easily. Hendrie should take first place. Sanborn should be among the first five and Bemis one of the first ten.

Maine, that won last year, is the team Tech must watch. Captain Herrick and Barnard of last year are the only men lost. Webb, Patten and Captain McKeman appear to be their best men. Zarakwicz, Snow and Captain French make the New Humpsh re team dangerous.

Tufts is as dangerous as Maine. Red Doherty and his brother, Joe, should place among the first five, while Shurrocks should be one of the first twenty.

Miller, that won last year, is the team Tech must watch. Captain Herrick and Barnard of last year are the only men lost. Webb, Pattern and Captain McKeman appear to be their best men. Zarakwicz, Snow and Captain French make the New Humpsh re team dangerous.

Tufts is as dangerous as Maine. Red Doherty and his brother, Joe, should place among the first five, while Shurrocks should be one of the first twenty.

HARVARD AGREES TO KEEP MULLER

It is now and will be until the last flash of an oar in the Harvard-Yale boat race next June, Coach Frank Muller in charge of the Harvard varsity eights.

The agreement which brought him to Cambridge provided that if he did not show the goods at this date the contract would not be renewed, but he made good and was signed.

Muller trained a crew which crossed the line first in the recent clash with the class sheil and also the 150-pound crews.

Muller will be assisted by Coach Reginald H. Howe, the Haines brothers and Ed Brown.

FRIEDMAN WINNER OVER MIKE CASTLE

Lowell, Nov. 17.—At the Moody A. C. here, Abe Friedman, the New England bantamweight champion, successfully defended his crown, by winning the decision over Mike Castle of Lawrence in a fast ten-round bout.

Friedman had seven out of the ten rounds and boxed like a champion. Castle tried hard to score a K. O., but the shifty Abe was too clever for him.

"HOW CAN EMERSON DO IT?"

Is a question you often hear asked when expert shoemen examine the shoes and prices in my store windows.

Unless you have visited my store recently you cannot realize what wonderful values I am showing.

I can give you better values because I buy my materials in large quantities for all my stores. I have cut every expense to the bone. My long experience has taught me when to buy to the best advantage. For instance leather has advanced 20% since I bought the materials for the shoes I am offering you now.

Many stores have raised their prices in sympathy. Mine are not raised because I stamp a fair and square retail price on the soles of my shoes at the factory. This price is based on the cost of materials actually used and cannot be raised later on.

I invite you to visit my stores and form your own opinion. I will not ask or expect you to buy unless you are convinced that you are getting more for your money than you can get else where.

BROWN AT TOP FORM FOR GRID BATTLE WITH HARVARD

PASS GAME FAVORED BY BEARS

Providence, Nov. 17.—A hard scrimmage in which the big Bear eleven was fairly deluged with forward passes from the coaches, marked the final preparation for the game in the Stadium.

Johnstone and Sheldon were given plenty of practice in running down under punts, while Sweet, Myers and Adams booted the egg around for almost an hour. Nothing was neglected and all divisions of play received expert attention.

Several members of the famous 1916 team were on the field assisting Coach Robinson in keeping up the team for the Harvard game.

If Harvard expects to find victory in the aerial fashion, as did Yale, she will find herself confronted by a team that since the Yale game, has done nothing else but eat, sleep and dream the breaking up of a forward pass attack by Harvard.

The coaches have talked forward pass until the Bears can almost smell one in the embryo.

They have received a thorough grounding in the forward pass defense and have also received several new plays of the overhead type which, if the opportunity affords, will be used against Harvard and may result in a complete revision of the Crimson defense shortly after the whistle sounds.

EXETER READY FOR ANDOVER BATTLE

Exeter, N. H., Nov. 17.—Exeter opened up its football practice which was secret all week and the students who marched to the field saw the closing work in preparation for the forty-second annual game with Andover Saturday.

Coach Blake is prepared for anything that Andover may spring, although he is not satisfied with the work of the eleven, and it may be necessary at the last hour to make a change in the line owing to an injury of Worcham, one of the guards. Worcham has a Charley horse and if he does not start it will be necessary to shift Davis from centre to guard and put Coleman, a sub, in at centre. "Joe" Prendergast will start at halfback in the place of Landell who has been bothered by injuries this Fall, and there is a question in Coach Blake's mind whether to start Charlesworth or McPhail at fullback. Both are powerful and fast, but Charlesworth is better in punting and is heavier.

Kaufman of Andover is heavy and Charlesworth may be sent to match him.

Exeter will watch Parissen and Randall, and Andover, on the other hand, will try to check Zarakov, the whirlwind of the Exeter backfield.

Bingham and Hardy, the last an Arlington boy, will be on the ends for the Exonians, and Prior and Bradley for Andover, and it is in this department that the Blue is expected to have the better of the argument, although Bingham is a veteran of last year's eleven.

SIMENDINGER DAY AT BRAVES FIELD DEC. 2

Worcester, Nov. 17.—Plans are under way for a "Simendinger Day" at the Holy Cross-Boston College game at Braves Field, December 2. This contest will be the last that Si will play for the Purple, and the reception to be given him promises to be one of the biggest any Holy Cross athlete has ever received.

Hilary Mahaney, with boils on his leg, and Lastie Broussard, who is bothered with stomach trouble, are still on the Purple's sick list and have not reported for practice this week. Unless they improve these two stars may not face Fordham Saturday at Fitton Field.

SOMERVILLE COACH SHIFTS PLAYERS

Coach Ayer of Somerville High has shifted two of his leading backfield players to the line to plug up weak spots. Hogan, who has played half-back part of the season, and Wells, who has served as fullback, will play the tackles.

This change will give Jeremiah, the sub-quarterback, a chance to call the signals against Everett, while Kyan will work as fullback.

There is talk of another Everett-Malden game to be played at Malden the Saturday following Thanksgiving Day. Everett is not satisfied and the same feeling exists at Malden.

Navy Champions Tackle Neponset Wanderers

The Neponset Wanderers will clash with the strong battleship Florida team tomorrow afternoon at Neponset playgrounds at 2:30 p. m. The Florida team has just won the Navy championship and should give the Wanderers a hard struggle.

A large delegation is coming to Neponset from the Florida, the "gobs" being noted for their loyalty to their team, and will bring the ship's band along and stage a band concert before and during the game.

Neponset is football mad this week, there being several strong rival teams in the town, and the Wanderers game coming on Saturday, with St. Anne's Spaulding game on Sunday, is the sole topic of conversation.

Manager Dan Cummings announces that owing to a misunderstanding regarding dates, the game with the St. Alphonsus A. A. has been put over one week, and will be played on the Walpole street grounds on Sunday, November 25.

Manager Cummings has signed up the strong Cambridge Legion team for Thanksgiving Day, the game to be played at Russell Field, North Cambridge.

SPALDING BIG HIT AS HARVARD QUARTER

With the second team using Brown plays, the Harvard eleven which will start the game Saturday went through long dummy scrimmages and signal drills.

Jack Hammond, "Winnie" Churchill and Phil Coburn obeyed Phil Spalding's signals. Kernan was "Eekie" Clark's centre position. The rest of the line is as it was in the Princeton game and will be in the Yale game. Hubbard and Grew, guards; Eastman and Dunker, tackles; Jenkins and Holder, ends.

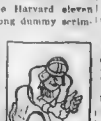
The hero of the game should prove to be Spalding, who worked his way up from third-string signal barker on the freshman eleven, last Fall, to the position that ranks next to Buell. The varsity quarter of a year ago, Blake, is now on the second team. Spalding has made wonderful strides, and the Harvard coaches are proud of him.

Coach Bob Fisher exonerated him from all blame of the defeat by Princeton. Quarterback Coach Babe Felton said of Spalding's performance in the bout with the Tigers that he gained more ground while he was in than Buell did.

The coaches included Fiske Brown, Logan, Soucy, Trumbell and Mahan.

Coburn is trying to fight his way back to the varsity eleven. He is a great defensive and interfering back. Chapin, who displaced him on the varsity, is a great ball-carrier, but he is weak at the two departments of game at which Coburn is powerful.

Smarting for the chance of winning his varsity job back, working as never a Crimson grid-iron warrior worked before, the fighting youth from the Weston hills is staging the fight of a lifetime. He wants to be first string back at the start of the great clash with the sons of Eli when the rivals clash in the great big bowl at New Haven.



FITTONS AGAIN PLAY AT NORTH CAMBRIDGE

On Sunday afternoon at Russell Field, North Cambridge, the Fitton A. C. football team of East Boston will play a return game with the Cambridge A. L. The first game between these rivals several weeks ago ended with a win for the Fittons by the score of 2 to 0. The Legion gives expressed dissatisfaction with the result and immediately requested a return game to prove that the victory of the Noddle Islanders was a fluke.

May Play on Wednesday

Manager Cullo of the Arlington High School football eleven is trying to arrange to play off the postponed Mystic Valley League game with Wakefield next Wednesday.

This game was postponed last month, owing to the death of an Arlington player.

GREEN CERTAIN THEY'LL BEAT COLUMBIA

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 17.—Dartmouth's football warriors, 29 players, with coaches, trainers and manager, arrived in New York, where it was Buck O'Neil's Columbia eleven at the Polo Grounds Saturday. The Green will make a mighty attempt to get back into the victory column before it starts work for its last game of the season with Brown next week.

Coach Cannell is not underestimating the prowess of the Columbia team and has drilled his men hard to repeat their victories of the Morningside Heighters. Cannell is half afraid that the home jinx has caused the defeats of the Blue and White this year and that the jinx might have been long enough for a tough fight with Dartmouth.

The Green certainly cannot be said to be in good shape, although the reorganization of the past week may help to some extent. The new Dartmouth backfield is made up of Captain Burke at right half in his first real game of the year, Johnny Foster at fullback, Chuck Calder at left half, and Mills at quarter.

Whether Cannell thinks this quartet most powerful than the Mills-Seigfried-Leavitt-Harris combination or whether he wants to rest these much-used men before the Brown game is not known.

The Dartmouth squad on the trip are: Halfbacks, Captain Burke, Allen, Calder, Harris, Siegfried and Wright; fullbacks, Foster, Leavitt and T. Smith; quarterbacks, Mills and F. Smith; ends, Bjorkman, Gordon, Fagenbuckle, Lynch and Watkins; tackles, Goldstein, Hatch, Neidlinger and Rowe; guards, Ascenbach, Carpenter, Murphy, Swenson, Sweetser and Tyler; centres, Elfie and Moore.

Etiquette at Weddings Should Be Studied by All, These Days

By Les Conklin

NOBODY used to read about wedding etiquette in days gone by, because weddings were too few and far between to worry about. But nowadays it is different. With two or three weddings on his hands every year, a man has simply got to know what to do and when to do it.

The most important things about a wedding is to remember to be at the church. Many a wedding has been practically spoiled because the bridegroom forgot to show up at the altar.

A bridegroom may leave his wife in the middle of the honeymoon without breaking the rules of etiquette, but common decency requires that he be present at the ceremony.

The reason why most bridegrooms do not show up for the wedding is that they become bored after getting married two or three times. Getting married for the first time gives them quite a thrill, but after that the ceremony becomes tiresome.

In sending out invitations, it is wise to invite everybody you know because it means more presents. A shrewd bridegroom can collect enough kitchen utensils in this way to start housekeeping at once.

If a man marries money, he should invite all his creditors to the affair in order to let them know that he will soon be in a position to clear up his debts.

In embossing the invitations, an appropriate symbol may be secured by embossing a pair of dumbbells in white where the crest would appear. Crepe paper should be used for stationery.

Extravagance in any of the appointments of the wedding is in extremely bad taste. There will be expenses enough after housekeeping starts.

The number of bridesmaids may be not less than five nor more than ten. Do not choose six, as they may be mistaken for pallbearers.

The bride should lean on her father's arm. The groom should walk alone unless he is under the weather.

It is not necessary to give the bride away, as the neighbors will make a point of learning all about her past at the first opportunity.

Most authorities say that the wedding breakfast should be simple, but it is generally wise to have the food well cooked, because it will be the last good meal the bridegroom will have for some time to come.

The meal should be served at the home of the bride's parents, as it will be the last opportunity for the happy couple to sponge a free meal from them.

The custom of throwing rice after the departing couple is a very foolish one. A much more practical one is to throw lumps of coal at them, especially as there is a hard Winter ahead.

HALF the people in the United States wear rubber heels, according to statistics. That means 60,000,000 soles are all ready to sneak up on the other 60,000,000 souls.

Does it mean that half of Americans is made up out of bootleggers and prohibition agents and the other half are on their uppers?

A rubber heel is a piece of frozen chewing gum and an alibi for peeking at a girl's ankle. "Rubber!" she says, indignant-ly. You suppose, "That's what I thought."

SIDELIGHTS ON HISTORY

THE First Congress convened in 1776, and ever since when people speak of Congress they don't give a continental.

The Cabots were the first Englishmen to touch the United States, and the English have been making touches from us ever since.

Adam brought sin into the world from eating an apple. From the havoc it has wrought it must have been a crabapple.

Philadelphia was once the capital of the United States and the way some of the Congressmen act you'd imagine it was still down there.

Eric the Red, an Icelander, is said to have been the first to discover America in the eleventh century, but historians evidently are intent upon giving him the cold shoulder.

The Boston tea party in 1775 created quite a stir, but nothing like the recent pajama party here.

Nero's fame is due to his violin, which shows that it only hangs by a string.

John Paul Jones was the first American to beat the British on the water, and Volstead was the first American to see that it remains right here.

Medbury Says Only 2 Classes of People Flirt—Men and Women

By John P. Medbury

A WELL known social writer says that a woman has to flirt in order to hold her husband. Maybe he's correct, but how is a woman going to hold her husband if some other dame flirts with him?

Of course very few men know that their wives flirt, they're too busy flirting themselves.

MOST any girl knows how to hold a husband if he isn't her own.

ONE dame held a husband too long, his wife got sore and came and took him back home.

SHE really had no claim on him, he was only married to her.

BUT he flirted so much she got disgusted and turned him back to his folks.

HE had to get married to her girl friend before she realized how much she loved him.

AS soon as somebody else had him he started paying more attention to her.

SHE had to let him marry somebody else in order to keep him round the house.

WHEN he was hers she could never find him, and when he was somebody else's she couldn't get rid of him.

WITH the long coats and large hats the girls are wearing now-a-days it's very dangerous to flirt. You can't always tell who you're flirting with.

ONE bird walked seven blocks with a dame before he found out it was his wife.

YOU'D have thought he'd have recognized her hat and coat, but how is he going to know the clothes some other man bought for her?

YOU can hold the attention of your husband by flirting with him providing he doesn't know it's you.

THIS social writer says that flirting marriages are never happy. Neither are any other kind.

HE claims that a man doesn't live who doesn't flirt, and he's right, a man hasn't lived until he has flirted.

BUT we've got one thing to be thankful for, there are only two classes of people who flirt. Men and women.

DO YOU ENVY THE LOAFER AND TRAMP?

Sometimes you feel like you would shake off the responsibilities that are yours as a result of your position in the estimation of other men.

It has been such an effort to get your family into a certain class of society, and you think it will take so much more than you can do easily to keep them there that you are ready to let down.

You want to be more care-free, but it is exacting to do the many things required as a result of your chosen place and its standards.

Sometimes you almost envy the bum.

But you would be more unhappy if you allowed yourself and family to reach a place where you would be less proud of its members.

The spell which has come over you will disappear.

You are over-tired, need more fresh air and more sleep.

You are fortunate if your family is respected and its members are welcomed in the homes of good honest people.

After all, you cannot do otherwise than see that they associate with the right persons and so you must fit them for it and see that they progress.

You have enough pride not to want to go down and drag the family down.

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

By Ann Lisle

"I DO NOT FOOL YOU ALL — MR. ROSA CORDOVA I AM GOOD ACTRESS"

THEN I realized that there was something purposeful in the way he spoke directly to Rosa, who, as it happened, had compelled her to response, chirped out:

"I did fool you all — me, Rosa Cordova, I am good actress — verdad?"

"The best I've ever," agreed Mr. Lacy, still leering on his ela borately easy, "we understand each other don't we?" nods. "It was a great joke. In fact, I think I'm safe in saying that it is a great joke."

He turned his head for a second and met my eyes. I felt sure that he was asking me, if I didn't realize how completely it was still a joke—but now on Rosa. She had been defeated of her purpose which could only have been to discredit me and to cut Park off from any possibility of standing well at Dreamwold. But Rosa, cooling her head pertly on one side, cried:

"You forget me. I am neglected. I am treated as if I am nobody. So I make a little joke—"

"Amateur theatricals," suggested Mr. Lacy.

"Yes, it is that. I make me some amateur theatricals," giggled Rosa, adding with elaborate coyness: "I make me a drama. And then along comes a handsome hero. I have not planned. He just steps upon the stage. He—how you say—volunteers. And now I think it would be nice if I could know my—fellow actor. I like I should have presented to me formally the man who has just been holding me so close in his strong arms."

There was something in her tone so deliberately freighted with lure that I felt repelled. I wondered hotly if Mr. Lacy would also be repelled, or if he could be taken in by Rosa's wanton coquetry. In another second I realized that Rosa had so antagonized me, as indeed she has a gift for doing, that I didn't hold firm and fast to my perceptions. Ralph Lacy isn't the type to be swept from his moorings by any cheap little experimentalist in emotions.

He turned to Virginia with a gallant sweep of his arm. Both of them had an air of good fellowship and understanding which made me proud that a friend of mine should show such fine discrimination and should have the power to appeal to Virginia's discerning taste.

"Mrs. Dalton, now that we've had our laughter and joking, won't you present me formally to your—guest?" he said with barely perceptible mockery in his tone.

Rosa didn't get it. Virginia did, as I saw when she swept up and took Mr. Lacy's hand and led him as if they were partners in a minuet.

"Mrs. Rosa Cordova, on joking bent, I introduce Sir Ralph Lacy, likewise Intent," Virginia lulled with a comic opera swing.

"I am so glad to know—my hero," dimpled Rosa.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache often means you have been eating too much meat. Take Jad Salts.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. An excess of meat may form uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sore and begged and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomache sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

WEAK AND RUN-DOWN

After Serious Operation WINCARNIS Restores Her Strength

"Not long ago my daughter was obliged to undergo a serious operation which left her in a very sadly weak and run-down condition. She had no appetite and was as white as a sheet. She really looked as if she had no blood left in her. She was also very nervous.

The doctor had given her some medicine to build her up but she did not seem able to get the strength back. In fact her improvement was so slow that it worried me terribly.

I heard about Wincarnis and got her a bottle. It worked wonders. She began to improve right from the start. It was simply wonderful how quickly she regained her strength and put on weight and how the color came back to her cheeks."

KIMONO, By JOHN PARIS

Great Exposure of How Japanese Treat Their Women

SUPPRESSED BY JAPANESE GOVERNMENT

This startling and intensely interesting story of the Cherry Blossom Kingdom, telling what the Japanese think of women, was suppressed by the Japanese government. The expose has stunned Europe and opened the eyes of the world to what has really been going on. John Paris, the author, was an English diplomat there for years.

THE CHARACTERS IN THE STORY:

THE HONORABLE GEOFFREY BARRINGTON, son of Lord Brandan, a Captain in the British Army, resigns his commission when he weds

ASAKO FUJINAMI, beiress, daughter of Japanese parents who are dead; brought up and educated in French convent schools and introduced to London society by

LADY EVERINGTON, a brilliant matchmaker, who did not foresee the result of the bringing together of the two. At the reception toasts are drunk to the closer union of Britain and Japan, but both British and Japanese diplomats in the distinguished company evade the suggestion that the couple visit Japan, as appears to be their desire. Some of the reception guests frankly question the wisdom of the marriage and doubt the possibility of a happy life for the pair. Lady Everington, in her anxiety for the young Captain, who has been her special protege, interviews

COUNT SAITO, the Japanese Ambassador, who tells her the Fujinamis belong to the nouveaux riches of Japan, but gives little information of their origin or the source of their wealth. A visit to his wife's guardians, the Muratas, a Japanese family living in Paris, and a sojourn among the cosmopolitans of Deauville, sharpen the desire to see Japan. Aboard the ship they meet

VISCOUNT KAMIMURA, returning home to wed a bride he has never seen. A stop at Nagasaki is the first sight of Japan. A part of the revelation is the Chonkina, or Geisha dance, seen by Barrington, who is shocked by the performance. He is disturbed to learn from the talk of Americans and Englishmen that marriages with Japanese women are not favorably regarded.

TANAKA, a nondescript Japanese, attaches himself to Barrington and accompanies him to Tokyo, where Geoffrey meets

REGGIE FORSYTH, attache to the British embassy, musical and romantic, who has just been transferred from Paris.

YAE SMITH, daughter of a Japanese mother and an English father, languishes around Reggie's apartment, where Barrington meets her.

SA ITO, lawyer for the Fujinami estate, arranges for the Barringtons to meet the bride's family. Barrington is not impressed. A family conference discloses that the Fujinami income is derived from the Geisha house privileges in Tokyo and elsewhere. It is decided that Asako should be divorced and married to a Japanese.

PERHAPS; or perhaps they were too taken up with maintaining their equilibrium on their high shoes, or perhaps they thought of nothing at all. Reggie, who had a poor opinion of the intellectual brightness of educated Japanese women, thought that the last alternative was highly probable.

The Tea House

"I wonder what those little houses are where they pay their visits," Reggie said.

"Oh, those are the hikiya shaya," said Yae glibly, "the Yoshiwara tea-houses."

"Do they live there?" asked Asako.

"Oh, no; rich men who come to the Yoshiwara do not own the big houses where the oiran live. They go to the tea-houses; and they order food and drink, to sing, and the oiran to be brought from the big house. It is more private. So the tea-houses are called hikite chaya, tea-houses which lead by the hand.'"

"Yae," said Reggie, "you know a lot about it."

"Yes," said Miss Smith, "my brothers have told me. They tell me lots of things."

After a stay of about half an hour, the oiran left their teahouses. The procession was formed; and they slowly tottered back to the places whence they had come. Across their path the cherry petals were already falling like snow flakes; for the cherry-blossom is the Japanese symbol of the impermanence of earthly beauty, and of all sweet things and pleasant.

"By Jove!" said Geoffrey Barrington to the world in general, "that was an extraordinary sight. East is East and West is West, eh? I never felt that so strongly before. How often does this performance take place?"

"This performance," said Reggie, "has taken place for three days every Spring for the last three hundred years. But it is more than doubtful whether it will ever happen again. It is called Oiran Dochu, the procession of the courtesans. Geoffrey, what you have seen today is nothing more or less than the Passing of Old Japan!"

"But whom do these women belong to?" asked Geoffrey. "And who is making money out of all this filth?"

"Various people and companies, I suppose, who own the different houses," answered Reggie. "A fellow once offered to sell me his whole establishment, bedding and six girls for 50 pounds down. But he must have been having a run of bad luck. In most countries it is a most profitable form of investment. Do you remember 'Mrs. Warren's Profession'? Thirty-five per cent. I think was the exact figure. I don't suppose Japan is any exception."

Can't Help Themselves

"By Jove!" said Geoffrey. "The women, poor wretches, they can't help themselves; and the men who buy what they can sell, one can't blame them either. But the creatures who make fortunes out of all this beastliness and cruelty, I say, they ought to be flogged round the place with a cat-o'-nine-tails till the life is beaten out of them. Let's get away from here!"

As they left the beer-house a small round Japanese man bobbed up from the crowd, raised his hat, bowed and smiled. It was Tanaka. Geoffrey had left him behind on purpose, that his servants, at least, might not know where he was going.

"I think—I meet Ladyship here," said the little man, "but for long time I do not spy her. I am very sorry."

"Is anything wrong? Why did you come?" asked Geoffrey.

"Your samurai and their language," said Reggie, "they all do that."

The Radcliffe Guild will present Pygmalion by Bernard Shaw, for the benefit of the Emmanuel Scholarship Fund, in Agassiz Theatre on November 17 and November 18.

The play is coached by Miss Ethel Woodworth '23, of Cambridge. Miss Woodworth is the first student coach for a Guild play, the others having been coached by professionals.

She is chairman of the dramatic committee of the Idler, and has successfully coached many plays, the most notable being Nassfield's "Tragedy of Yan," which was presented by the Idler Club of Radcliffe.

Those in the cast are: Katherine Reed, '24, of Hartsdale, N. Y.; Constance Wellman, '25, Springfield, Helen Stilwell, '24, Cincinnati, Ohio, Sybil Stone, '25, Belmont, Florence Tracy, '24, Taunton, Louise Daly, '24, Boston, Thecla Fitzgerald, '25, Southbridge, Elizabeth McKie, '25, Chapel Hill, N. C., Mary Sands, '17, Cambridge, E. Allen, '17, Cambridge, Janet Fairbank, '23, Chicago, Genevieve Fallon, '23, Cambridge, Rosemary Hogan, '23, Cambridge, Dorothy Leadbetter, '25, Portland, Ore., and Joyce Breman, '23, of Redlands, Cal.

The chairmen of the principal committees are: Properties, Esther Dodge, '24, Manchester, N. H., costumes, Frances Burrage, Middlebury, Vt., stage manager, Esther Head, '25, Arlington, lights, Elizabeth Ehrhart, '24, White Plains, N. Y., publicity, Harriet Yerxa, '24, Watertown, tickets, Sophie Aranoff, '23, Franklin and ushers, Mary Olmstead, '23, Newton.

EDWARDS TO BREAK SILENCE ON RETIREMENT

A threat by Major-General Edwards to "take off the trappings of silence" after his retirement in December interested the H. P. Hood & Sons Mutual Benefit Association at its fifteenth annual meeting and banquet at Ford Hall.

The general would not give any inkling as to the meaning of this cryptic statement. It aroused a considerable amount of discussion.

Charles H. Hood, president of H. P. Hood & Sons, Inc., was a guest of honor and the principal speaker of the evening. Judge Thomas J. Riley made a speech in which he advocated free trade and attacked the tariff.

The following officers were elected at the meeting that preceded the dinner: E. J. Fine, president; H. E. Weldon, vice-president; Joseph W. Cagan, secretary; A. Foley, treasurer; G. J. Littlefield, auditor. An executive committee of eighteen members, representing the different branches of the company, was named.

Reports of officers showed that $4,903 was paid out during the past year for sick benefits and that $2,795 had been paid for death benefits. The balance in the treasury November 1 was $3,632.05.

President Hood, after discussing the association, said: "Business with us was never better. We are overcoming all the difficulties and are introducing better methods in business management. It is necessary to have a high ideal and our ideal is quality."

POET GUEST MAKES DEBUT AS LECTURER

Edgar A. Guest, the poet, philosopher and newspaper humorist made his debut as a lecturer in Boston audiences last night in Symphony Hall. Mr. Guest is an interesting figure on the lecture platform and his material amusing and attractive. His audience chuckled at droll narratives and applauded his witticisms.

GENERAL EDWARDS A FEATURE OF THE INNUAL GATHERING

The doughty warrior threatened to take off "the trappings of silence" after he is retired from active service in the United States Army. This is taken to mean that he will have something interesting to say about certain features of his career.

STAR CAST SINGS "OTELLO" AT OPERA

"Otello" was the opera at the Sanarlo season of the Boston Opera house last night. The cast was the best that Gallo could put forward, his star tenor Salazar, as the Moor. Anna Fitziu as Desdemona, and Richard Bonelli as Lago. There was a large and appreciative audience, and chorus and orchestra worked well with principals to give a stirring performance.

King's Chapel Address

"If every one in Boston would bear their own burden what an ideal city this would be," said Rev. Boynton Merrill, assistant pastor of the Old South Church, in his noon address at King's Chapel.

WOMAN SENATOR MAY SIT ONE DAY

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 17.—Mrs. W. H. Felton and Walter F. George, Senator-Elect from Georgia, will confer today on the question of allowing Mrs. Felton to take oath of office as United States Senator for one or more days, a privilege which has been requested by thousands of women throughout the nation. Governor Hardwick appointed Mrs. Felton Senator until a successor to Senator Watson could be selected by Georgia voters. On November 7 Mr. George was elected.

548 DEAD, 837 HURT, IN CHILE'S QUAKE

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Revised figures given out by the Minister of the Interior place the total of those killed in last Saturday's earthquake at 548.

The number of injured is only partly estimated, the total being set at 837, but those coming under this category in Vallenar and Chanaral are described in the report as "innumerable."

DEMAND HARDING RELEASE PRISONERS

A resolution urging President Harding to declare a general amnesty for political prisoners, including Daniel O'Connell of the State of Washington, who was imprisoned for seeking to test the constitutionality of the conscription act, was passed by the Association to Abolish War. Copies were sent to both Massachusetts Senators, according to Harry W. Pinkham, the secretary.

Know how Kellogg's Bran can help you. Read the staggering health facts!

Ninety out of every one hundred people suffer with constipation! Constipation is the direct cause of breakdowns in old age, lowered vitality and ninety per cent of illness!

Do you realize that nearly every case of constipation is traceable to neglect in answering nature's call? Is a few years the sufferer has "latent constipation"—the most dangerous form of all! Toxic poisons penetrate the intestine walls, pollutting the blood, which in turn poisons and affects every organ in the body. Nearly every case of diabetes and Bright's disease can be traced to constipation or intestinal poisoning, as can most rheumatism, headache, brain fag, hardening of arteries and other organic diseases.

Pills and cathartics can never afford you permanent relief. What you need is nature's most wonderful roughage—

Read the staggering health facts!

BRAN—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled—and delicious in flavor and edibility! Bran will permanently relieve constipation when taken regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in severe cases, with every meal! Your doctor will indorse Kellogg's Bran for constipation!

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the eliminative tract as nothing else can—and, being a nature food, it creates no habit. Bran's work is a revelation!

Serve Kellogg's Bran to the entire family as a cereal, with other cereals or in countless appetizing ways such as in muffins, pancakes, raisin bread, etc. Recipes on every package.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

P. S.—Kellogg's Bran, eaten regularly, will clear up a pimply complexion.

dressed as servants, all supported by the interest on millions of pounds inherited from her father.

The unfortunate woman's hopeless insanity was planted in her blood, on her honeymoon, by a vicious husband diseased. How would she have voted on that prevention of disease issue?

THIS PARAGRAPH IS FROM Eugene V. Debs' magazine:

"The rich have the baby grands, and the poor have the grand babies."

Victor Berger, another Socialist, recently re-elected to Congress, says the two words "The Masses" might be made more accurate by moving a letter from one word to the other, thus, "Them Asses."

But Debs and Berger must not be too pessimistic. The rich that buy the "baby grands" today were yesterday's grand babies of the poor. A grand baby, born in a poor family, has his chance to buy a baby grand before he dies if he wants one.

As for the masses, or "them asses," they are slowly learning, slowly increasing their leisure and time to think. The average man that voted for Victor Berger owns or rents a bathtub. Queen Elizabeth didn't have any.

THE PENNSYLVANIA State Department of Labor and Industry says that it costs $2.89 per labor to dig an anthracite in the market a gross ton (2,240) of coal. The coal retails at an average of $14 a ton—less than $3 for the labor that produces the coal. $11 added for middlemen that distribute, etc. How does that impress you?

Isn't the real problem of the United States costly, wasteful distribution?

SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND BARRELS of oil burn in Texas. Two million more barrels are in danger. Lighting struck an oil tank. Can't Edison, Steinmetz, Tesla or somebody find a way to protect such values? Couldn't heavy copper wire, properly grounded on all sides, be strung from the coil tanks to take up stray lightning and carry it safely into the earth? It ought to be possible.

"Sylpho-Nathol for home health"—said our Doctor

Dr. Green is so interested in all his patients. When Dorothy had scarlet fever, he told us how important it was to keep the bedclothes and utensils used in her room thoroughly disinfected. We washed everything in Sylpho-Nathol.

"And now, that Dot's well again,' said Dr. Green as he was leaving after his last visit, 'keep on using Sylpho-Nathol around the house. It's an effective sanitary measure that safeguards the family against disease.'

"Doctors realize more than most people that merely keeping a house free from dust and dirt doesn't keep it free from germs. All the scrubbing and scouring in the world won't get rid of the germs that lodge and breed in floor cracks, in crevices and crannies around plumbing, in garbage cans and sink drains, in dark attic corners, in cellars and around laundry tubs—and goodness knows how many other places."

Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant to use. Its clean, friendly smell doesn't linger. Sylpho-Nathol is safe. Though 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid, it is as safe to have in the house as a cake of soap. It cannot hurt the skin or injure household things. There is nothing musty of complicated about it. A teaspoonful in a quart of warm water makes a clean-smelling, pearly-gray antiseptic solution that's ready for immediate action.

Sylpho-Nathol should be used regularly in mop water, in the scouring water for garbage cans, and as a sprinkle that keeps flies as well as odors away from such places. It should be poured down sink drains and sprinkled in the cellars. Of course, it should be used regularly around the bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl.

Your grocer, or druggist, sells Sylpho-Nathol in four handy sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25, and $2.25. If he hasn't it, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

After Exposure Take Hill's

WHEN colds are going the rounds and la grippe and pneumonia are prevalent, you must exercise precaution.

You can't escape exposure. But you can strengthen your resistance by taking Hill's Cascara Quinine Tablets regularly.

Colds spread in the sneezing crowds that pack cars, streets, shops and theaters.

Play safe and keep fit. Take Hill's before and after exposure.

What Is "Luck"?

Miss Sandow Wants to Know

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

Miss Eva Sandow lives in Framingham. Her father has a shoe store. She believes in luck and says, "After reading and rereading your editorials, I ask you to define the meaning of the word 'luck.'"

What pleasure.

Luck is sometimes the excuse of those that don't succeed, because they don't work.

Luck is a word often used to belittle the accomplishment of a successful man—used by a man unsuccessful.

Luck is used usually to describe something that happens accidentally.

In New York city the other day, for instance, a woman was walking in front of a building under construction. A screwdriver fell from the nineteenth-story and pierced her brain.

You call that "bad luck," although there is in reality no such thing as "luck." Things happen accidentally. One man finds an oil well, the other falls into a coal hole. But if you rely on luck to find an oil well for you, or if you rely on luck to keep you out of open coal holes you make a great mistake.

Many of us have the habit of saying "Just my luck" to excuse a mistake.

And we say "Just his luck" to belittle the successful accomplishment of somebody else.

There is only one thing that counts, dear Miss Sandow, and that is HARD WORK, development of the mind with steady, useful thought, keen observation, keeping your mind awake, plus speed and earnestness in seizing opportunity.

Nobody ever got rich on luck in the long run. But many have gone through life flat failures while waiting for "luck" to overtake them.

They Don't Pay Us

Germany Doesn't Pay Them

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

Germany says she can't, or won't, pay money that France and Belgium want in the way of reparation. The allies are horrified at such "perfidy."

America takes it calmly. If it is all right for France, England and other countries NOT to pay the United States ten thousand millions lent in friendship, and borrowed as a debt of honor, why blame Germany for refusing to pay sums taken from her by force.

If repudiation or postponement is good enough for the allies, why not for Germany? In any case there is GOING to be postponement NOW—repudiation later.

Idle Coal Cars

Unconvincing Reply to Charge That Railroads Are Responsible for Holding Up Delivery of Fuel

Fuel Administrator Phelan has given to the newspapers a communication from one E. W. Parker, director of anthracite distribution, replying to the charge which the labor men make that the railroads are largely responsible for holding up the delivery of coal.

This charge was made against the railroads by the leaders of the coal miners and by certain men who have investigated the situation in behalf of the railroad shopmen. It is charged that miles of loaded cars are lying idly on the sidings of the two important railroads which enter the anthracite district without real effort to move them to their destination, and when empty coal bins, fireless furnaces and cold and dangerous houses await them.

The railroad workmen accused the railroads of being largely responsible for the coal famine because in their desperate attempt to exploit and deflate labor they permitted their equipment to get out of working condition, their engines to get out of repair. They reduced the motorpower of their railroads.

But recently responsible experts have charged the railroads with still another fault in this situation. This traffic expert says that the railroads in many cases are deliberately permitting the coal cars to stand idly on the sidings in order to use such efficient engines as they have to move more profitable freight.

We recall that Henry Ford charged not only the mine owners but the railroads and gentlemen in Wall Street with responsibility for the famine of hard coal.

Now comes a letter from Mr. Parker, which Fuel Administrator Phelan gives out, we assume, as a refutation of these charges. We are surprised if Mr. Phelan considers this letter either a refutation of the charges against the railroads or an ingenuous communication. We print the letter herewith for your consideration:

With reference to your letter of October 18, regarding newspaper articles relative to "three miles of anthracite,"

I have received numerous newspaper clippings carrying this statement, have investigated the matter, and find that the whole thing is made up out of the fact that one of the railroad companies had some cars on its tracks on the opposite side of the Susquehanna River from Wilkesbarre, which it had been unable to move as quickly as it wanted to because of impaired motive power. I understand that the situation has been improved somewhat and these cars are being moved out as rapidly as possible. The whole thing was a newspaper sensation. It should not be given consideration.

We want to ask our readers if there is anything in this communication from Mr. Parker purporting to deny the charges that the railroads have been delinquent in hauling coal which really denies the charge? He states the charge himself specifically that "three miles of anthracite coal cars have stood idly on the sidings of one railroad alone." Where in his letter does he deny it? All he says is that it is true that somewhere near Wilkesbarre on the Susquehanna River SOME cars have been held up on account of lack of engine power. Why the use of the vague words "some cars"? It may mean one car or it may mean a million. The charge itself against the railroads is specific and direct. Why is not the denial then as specific and direct? Is it not a fair interpretation of this letter that it is an attempt to cover up the truth while seeming to deny it? If there were not "three miles" of cars or anywhere near "three miles" of cars lying idle, why not say so?

Mr. Parker says that these cars have been delayed on account of lack of engine power, but that he UNDERSTANDS that they will all be moved as soon as possible. Of course! But what of it?

Now that the railroads have been discovered they will try to hurry just enough to allay public indignation again.

This is typical private operation of the railroads for you.

Gods or Beasts

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

PERHAPS you have seen a collection of sayings and writings about the fair sex, called "Woman—Angel or Devil."

You pays your money and takes your choice. Or you borrow the book—or turn the pages of your own voluminous experience—and then worship or malign the fair one to suit your passion or your prejudice.

But Woman remains as she is—despite your praise or your blame—just a Human Being, variously compounded of all the elements—good, bad and different—that go into the making of this human stuff.

And not only are there all kinds of women, but each individual woman runs the gamut of human possibility.

She may, indeed, be angel or devil—or any proportionate composition of the two extremes.

Wherein she is precisely like her fellow-human—the mere male.

If you wish to be gallant, you may say that there are not so many male seraphs to the square mile of earth as there are female angels.

Or, if you choose to be a bit gay, you may even positively assert that men are much more devilish than women. And you may at least negatively aid your assertion by indicating how ashamed a man acts when you charge him with goodness.

And how flattered even decent men seem if you suggest that they are a bit devilish.

When you stop playing with this fundamentally serious subject, you have to admit that men, too, are just Human Beings—each within himself a mixture of all kinds of qualities, and the totality of males varying and averaging about the same as the totality of the females of our species.

Precisely that fact of infinite variation within and among us human beings gives a solid basis to human sympathy.

If you have some of the "devil" in you, surely you can afford to show a fellow-feeling to the man or woman whose devilishness breaks out in faults or even in crimes.

Awful Gordon Case

Faces on Ceiling

Editor Boston American:

In reading your morning paper I was attracted to the headline: "Gordon Girl Saw Faces."

I do not know that it would be of any assistance in the case of Dorothy Gordon, but I cannot refrain from saying that from the time I can remember until I was sixteen I saw the ceiling of my room almost every night covered with a sea of faces and often spiral illuminated wires that came down almost to my bed. My family, of course, laughed at my so-called imagination, and naturally I ceased to talk about what I saw. Nevertheless the experience was mine, and it was no doubt something psychic, and I am a perfectly normal and sane person.

ELIZABETH ANN WALMSLEY.

People Stirred

Editor Boston American:

Thank heaven for the great battle you are putting up for Dorothy Gordon. Shame on Massachusetts! I cannot understand why the womanhood of Boston is not up in arms against Jardine. They surely know they are on trial right now.

Mr. Editor, I know of nothing that has so stirred all decent people as this shameful treatment of Dorothy Gordon.

Turks Misrepresented

Editor Boston American:

It strikes me that the Turkish people have not had their side truly represented in the papers of this country and that the papers have printed articles and statements by such men as Dr. Ghasarian from time to time taking the writers' say-so for facts. I wish to call your attention to the fact that the Red Cross and other societies that are in Turkey have made no such statements as are made by Dr. Ghasarian, and if things are as represented by him the Red Cross would be the first to tell of it. I am in constant communication with friends in Turkey and from what I have learned through them Dr. Ghasarian's statements are unfounded. No nation of people is wholly bad, and I do not think that the American people, regardless of the fact that they have been told but one side of the issue, believe the statements made in reference to the cruelties of the Turkish race.

Work, Tea and Dancing

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Work and a cup of tea at 5 every morning—that is the recipe for longevity that Lord Leverhulme is handing out now that he has passed his seventy-first birthday.

Lord Leverhulme admits that he is not a teetotaler, but he drinks only on rare and celebrative occasions.

"I keep fit by taking pleasure in my work," Lord Leverhulme said when asked how he managed to dodge rheumatics, creaking backs and other signs of age. "Work is my greatest joy. It is that and regular habits which keep me well. I am never ill and so I am always happy.

"This is my normal day:

"4:30 a. m.—Rise and spend twenty minutes in gymnastic exercises.

"4:50—Shave and dress.

"5:00—A cup of tea, and as I sip it I begin attacking business reports.

"7:30—Breakfast, consisting of tea, toast, bread and butter, jam or marmalade. No meat.

"7:50—Read the newspapers, or as much of them as I can digest in ten minutes.

"8:00—Read and reply to letters.

"8:30—Motor to my office.

"9:00—Begin business.

"1 p. m.—Lunch in the office —cup of tea, two poached eggs or a little cold meat.

"1:30—'Forty winks.'

"2:15—Begin work again.

"5:30—Motor home.

"7:00—Dinner. I do not have business dinners, although I entertain to a fair extent. The evening is spent in social pleasures. I am very fond of dancing and of the theatre. If I am at home at 10 p. m. I go to bed, taking no supper.

"In the way of outdoor exercise, when I can find time for it I go for walking. Games I do not care for. Golf or tennis have never attracted me because of the competitive element. I am not a teetotaler, but I do not touch alcohol except on special occasions. Smoking I have never indulged in."

That is how Lord Leverhulme lives and works, and perhaps therein is contained the secret of his great business success as the head of England's great soap industry.

SEEN AND HEARD

IT has been said that STANDISH WILLCOX, editor of the City Record and MAYOR CURLEY'S social secretary, can get up a luncheon that will suit the king's taste. He proved that this was true and also showed that it can be done in thirty minutes. The municipal luncheon tendered to MAYOR HENRY W. KIEL of St. Louis, Mo., was ordered, guests invited and all seated within half an hour.

"It's train time all the time at grade crossings," is the warning conveyed by sign where New Haven rails are laid across Melville avenue, Dorchester, in a timely warning to autoists. F. X. MILHOLLAND, railroad authority, declares 50 per cent. of grade crossing accidents last year were due to drivers running into lowered gates, claiming they couldn't see them.

Boston poets are beginning to figure prominently in business literature, the latest being RALPH WALDO EMERSON, who is not only quoted in United Shoe Company booklets just issued but also has a photograph of his home used as a frontispiece by this staid Bay State concern.

Newton aldermen are pretty busy now, cleaning up legislation before the city election, but ALDERMAN "TIM" HICKEY, the popular West Newton representative, has time to be interlocutor in the Newton Catholic Club minstrel show which will be given next week. He is president of the club.

School days mean a lot to some West Newton people. When the Davis School, over fifty years old, was razed, some of the former pupils bought the desks they used as "kids." One Newton fireman, in particular, has the desk on which his initials are carefully carved. They were placed there twenty years ago.

Violets in bloom, mayflowers in bud at Sterling and pansies producing blossoms at Northboro make these Worcester County towns appear like Winter resorts.

The Eastern Massachusetts Railway has removed the "No Smoking" sign from the cars and replaced it with the following: "Men who have any respect for women will not smoke in this car."

During his five years in Boston before the great fire in 1872, the REV. CHARLES A. HOLBROOK, who is dead at Aurora, Ill., was a battalion chief of the Boston fire department—a position before or since no clergyman has held. During that great fire he was a volunteer rescue worker and was at this work for two days, his family not hearing of him in that time. He was rector of St. Margaret's Church, Brighton, and afterwards became chaplain at the United States navy yard, Portsmouth, N. H., where he had been rector of old St. John's.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON HOW TO KEEP WARM

By Garrett P. Serviss

THE difficulty in getting enough coal to keep warm this Winter will be an aid to thinking. Some of the more obvious and practical thoughts inspired by it are already in current exchange wherever people meet to talk or sit down to read. There are also more philosophical aspects of the subject which have a deep, though less immediately evident, practical interest. Some of these concern the science of economics, with which I am not about to deal, but there is one of a physiological and biological nature that seems to me very important.

Why do we heat our rooms in Winter? "Why, to keep warm," you say; "that's easy!"

Yes, it is an easy answer, but very superficial. If our thoughts never went any farther or deeper than that the superiority of the human to the simian would not be so self-evident.

It would be more suggestive of the essential truth if the reply to the question was: "We heat our rooms to save our bodily heat."

It is not the warm air that keeps us comfortable at our work or our pleasures, but it is our warm blood. The atmospheric heat may, indeed, make us very uncomfortable through its variability and its excesses, but the blood, as long as it is in a healthy condition, never incommodes us with its heat because its temperature is constant. That constancy is the measure of the perfection of the bodily mechanism. There is no man-made furnace or engine capable of matching it.

The application of warmed air to the outside of the body to prevent the escape of the natural bodily heat is a crude device. The body can supply its own loss of heat much more effectively by means of muscular exercise, which causes the consumption of a larger amount of oxygen, or in other words, increases the temperature of the bodily furnace.

In fact, the body is an engine which always, except in cold weather, has a little more heat than it needs, and this surplus is radiated away into the cooler air around it. The normal mean temperature of the blood is about 99 degrees Fah. That is well above the temperature of mid-Summer air.

The surplus heat developed in the body is sufficient to permit the air temperature to sink to 65 or 70 degrees without drawing seriously upon the bodily supply of heat. When the air temperature goes lower than about 60 degrees the average person begins to feel chilly, if in an inactive state. The best way to warm up, then, is not to start a fire, but to take a little muscular exercise.

If the temperature sinks to 50 degrees livelier exercise, or a mild warming of the surrounding air, is called for. Vigorous persons, who are physically fit, can keep comfortably warm in an air temperature of 40 degrees or less. But if the temperature sinks much below freezing ears, fingers, etc., in which the blood circulation is less active, are liable to be frozen by long exposure.

Anybody who, in cold weather, has contrived the delicious, satisfying and not enervating effect of increasing the warmth of the body from within by exercise, as against heating the outside in order to stifle the body's radiation, will never wish to adopt the lamented expedient when he can employ the first.

It is too much heat and not an excess of "impurity" in the air that generally makes living-rooms uncomfortable, good breathing-grounds for the diseases bred in them. It renders it impossible for most of us to keep warm in Winter in the best way, and the second-best way, which we have been forced to adopt, has been but half perfected.

NARCOTIC EVIL SPREAD BY POWERFUL RINGS

By John D. Mueller

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. — With Japanese leading in the role of smugglers, despite the honest effort of that country to curb their activities, three nations—the United States, China and Russia—today are menaced by an alarming increase in the illicit use of narcotics, according to reports from the United States narcotic agent in the Hawaiian Islands and the International Anti-Opium Association at Peking.

Smuggling of narcotics into the United States through American insular possessions has brought this country face to face with the problem of not only checking their further use in the United States but in its insular possessions, according to William D. Allen, Jr., Federal narcotic agent in the Hawaiian Islands. The illicit traffic is going on apace in this country and leaving an increasing trail of addicts in its trans-Pacific course.

In China, according to the report, thousands will face famine this Winter as a direct result of the increased narcotic traffic. Unscrupulous military governors, the association report charges, seeking to increase their tax revenues, have compelled farmers to use increasing their opium poppy crops as to make certain a wheat crop by force too short. The demoralized condition of railways makes things worse.

To the north, above the Manchurian border, the growing of opium poppies is gaining headway among Russians at an alarming rate, the association asserts. Clubs of boys from fourteen years of age upward have been organized from the ranks of which is the furtherance of the use of opium, morphine and cocaine.

Smuggling rings, with seemingly inexhaustible financial resources, bring the drugs across the Pacific to the Philippines and thence to the Hawaiians and the United States, Allen advised the President's agents here. In the Philippines and Hawaiian Islands, Allen declared, distribution is made chiefly by Chinese, who obtain their supplies of drugs from Japanese smugglers. The disastrous results present a vital problem to the American government, Allen stated.

In the United States, Allen declared, Americans are implicated with Japanese in the traffic. San Francisco is said to be the great distributing centre of the country; from that metropolis well organized bands are scattering the drugs over the length and breadth of the land.
